

The Pot of Gold

from the Rainbow Center for the Humanities
Lander Wyoming

Welcome to spring!

Spring has arrived in the Lander Valley. We are having beautiful days in the 60's to 70's, though the nights are still down into the low 20's and even the teens. The aspens are beginning to bud and there is truly nothing more inspiring than spring time in the Rockies.

ASTROLOGY

I forgot to mention last month that the length of influence of an eclipse is one year for each hour that the eclipse lasts. Both Full Moon and New Moon in March were eclipses and quite powerful I might add.

FULL MOON

The Full Moon falls on April 2 and two days before it occurs Pluto turns retrograde at 29 degrees Sagittarius. When a planet turns retrograde or goes direct its influence intensifies. The 29th degree of a sign indicates a time of finishing up old lessons, as you are energetically preparing to move on to new levels of awareness.

This is the last retrograde that Pluto will make in the sign of Sagittarius as it goes into Capricorn in January of 2008. This is a time of tying up loose ends around religious philosophy, old ideas about how the world is and in many cases; we are mourning who we were, that we can never be again because we have outgrown those ways. It all seems so serious and so did out growing the favorite dress or pair of cowboy boots when we were children. It is a major in our perspective of ourselves.

About the time that Pluto goes direct in September, Saturn will be going into Virgo for the next three years. The last third of 2007 two of the outer planets—Saturn and Jupiter-- will change signs and that always stirs things up.

This is a time of checking the spiritual direction that we are going and is case we doubt it, Jupiter, ruler of Sagittarius, is also moving through Sag at this time.

Venus, planet of harmony, is moving through Taurus, the sign of security at the time of this Full Moon. In fact, it will be exactly square the opposition between Saturn in Leo and Neptune in Aquarius at the New Moon. This opposition has been affecting our views on friendship, unconditional love vs. conditional love, whether it is safe to have fun or is it bad to enjoy life and now the question of "What will they say" is emphasized by Venus in Taurus. These are age old questions and now we are required to sort through old beliefs and revamp our perspective as we move into the Aquarian Age.

Last August Jupiter in Scorpio squared Saturn in Leo and Neptune in Aquarius, creating the kind of stress that can cause earthquakes. Now, Jupiter is in Sagittarius and is forming an extended trine with Saturn which can ease stress or make it easy to put more pressure on those areas that have been ignored in the past.

Many people are feeling the underlying changes that the planets are effecting on the Earth, in the Earth and in us her children. Emotions are running high. People are defensive of how they have always done things and at the same moment they are recognizing deep within themselves that the defenses are outmoded.

Everyone has the spiritual watcher-- that part of you that observes and if you will listen guides you to higher and wiser living. People have not been aware of the watcher except in extreme situations until recent times. Suddenly, as we become aware of hearing and feeling the watcher we cannot function in the blindness of the old ways. We have been taught right and wrong from an intellectual perspective. Now we are beginning to be deeply aware of inappropriate behavior, even if we were taught that it was right. Kindness and love, Jupiter and Venus, don't need to be taught by rote. In fact, they cannot be taught except by example. When someone speaks of being loving and tells others to do things that way, but is exhibiting cruelty in the teaching it sends mixed messages. We are being called by the Heavens to develop discernment in every area of our lives, from relationships to religion, from finance to forgiveness.

When a destructive situation falls apart it is a blessing. Mother Teresa said, "If your march against war, I will not come, but if you ever have a march FOR peace, I will be there." This is where our consciousness is being lead, to understand that being against things just magnifies what we are against. There are those who believe that nothing can change, that we will keep repeating the same patterns over and over, as we have before. Now, we are entering a new age and we must change. Things simply cannot remain the same. The "safety of the past" has become a danger to itself.

NEW MOON

New Moons call us to explore our inner self. We are invited to sit in the dark of the night and of our lives and feel. This is not something that modern culture finds particularly inviting. Outside stimulus draws us away from what ancient man knew to be of value, quietude and going within. Many people in this time are remembering ancient truths that are so old they are new. There is a difference between what happened 100 years ago that trapped us into patterns of conflict and what happened 100,000 years ago that was so amazing we had to forget it in order to play a game of limitation. The Sun and Moon are closely trine Pluto at this New Moon which allows us to see the holes in our beliefs and to see beyond the veil of limitations of the world into the magic of the higher consciousness.

It is such interesting timing, that all the controversy over "The Secret" is occurring in the midst of these aspects. The world wants to argue that "The Secret" is a gimmick that someone devised to make money. "The Secret" is a Divine law that is spoken about in the Bible. Many want to say it doesn't work. It works infallibly. Whatever you dwell on will come about in your life. Worry is the highest form of negative creation. The current aspects are bringing us closer to the edge of a new reality and enticing us to peek at the unlimited possibilities.

People have been accustomed to asking for what they want without examining the total outcome. Stories have been told throughout time that offer ghoulish outcomes to people that want life to be as it was when difficult changes happen, only to find it can never be what it was again. People want a good life, but do not consider that if you get the kind of a life you believe you desire you must live up to it, not drag it down to your level. Pluto closes old doors and opens new ones. Some people want to go back to the old ways, when they discover that change is an inevitable part of growth. Pluto closes the old doors so completely that there is no going back. The door has no handle on your side.

When we hold on to the past Saturn will force us to break our grip. The lessons of Saturn become more painful the longer we hold on to the outmoded ways of life. We are seeing the old order grappling to prove that there can be no other way but war. In the past the teaching was that if the economy was flagging, then having a war would bring the economy back... Surely everyone is clear that this war in Iraq is not building our economy, but eroding everything that families have worked for, for generations. What it is doing is breaking the grip of the "parental society" that has paralyzed its people for almost a hundred years with governmental programs that pay people to underachieve, farmers not to plant and corporations to cut their employees off just before retirement. All of these programs to keep people small and controllable. Now, we are being shown ways to be bigger than we have been.

Jupiter in Sagittarius is asking us to remember our personal largesse. "Living Large" has become a catch phrase of the times, but it is also a commentary on what we can be if we let go of the fear of what would happen or what would "they" say if we really succeed.

Michael Beckwith, teacher of "The Secret" said, "Mediocrity envies Success".

If someone criticizes you it does not necessarily mean you are wrong, but often means you are all together too right for their comfort.

We have been far too impatient with ourselves in the midst of change that is taking us down an uncharted path, the path less traveled. In this "instant pudding" society we want everything right now. It still takes nine months for a fetus to gestate and the seasons turn in their own time, no matter how we push. Remember your nature and the rhythmus of your own life.

We have been taught that bigger, better, faster is the only acceptable way. The faster time moves the more we are required to slow down in order to grasp the magnitude of the changes. If you only compete with yourself you will be amazed to find that you are the only one like you on the planet, a priceless treasure.

How prosperous are you? Do you have plenty in your life? If you are like most of us, this is a daily challenge?

Prosperity can mean many different things to many different people. How would you define it? Are you healthy in body, mind and spirit? Do you have loving people around your? Do you have plenty of MONEY? In this particular column, I will tell you about several stones that will address your monetary prosperity. As with all healing, keep in mind that you are required to allow your good to come to you. I laughingly tell my students to assume the position, i.e. raise your hands to gather in all of your good. Most of us are terrified to prosper. When you consider that money is currency or energy, how much God can you handle? St. Germain says that if you think you can handle winning the lottery, put your finger in a light socket and see how much currency you can receive! Do you wish to be responsible for all that good? What are your attitudes about money?

One of the most beautiful stones that address the issue of prosperity is the Peach Calcite. Very soft in energy, it forms mainly in an optical shape. It will lovingly help to bring things to the highest possible level of prosperity. It has to do with allowing and assists us to receive and not be so terrified of it. Put a piece in your bath and feel how soothing it is.

Most of you are familiar with Herkimer Diamonds, not a true diamond but very clear Quartz that is double terminated. This stone would be extremely helpful for those who would be really committed to connecting to their Divine Inheritance. Rich! People have a rage against rich. This would assist in delving into understanding and overcoming the rage and fear of truly being wealthy. The healing properties would address all levels; physical, mental, emotional and spiritual. But the wholeness of the energy would be the reconnection to the Divine Inheritance.

Moldavite is a dark green meteorite that is like dynamite in a small package! It deals with heart energy, life force and the breaking up of major blockages in those areas. When one is in great fear or the denial of love, the result is intense blockage to one's prosperity and creativity. Moldavite breaks free the flow of energy so where it was dammed it will move forward

And last, but not least, is the Zincite. This crystal was found growing in the smokestacks of Zinc sheltering plants. These crystals are quite rare now, but there are some around if you look. An abundance stone, it has the power to heal on every level, but especially on the levels of prosperity, the feelings of unworthiness and the belief in denial. All of these things require healing and therefore, this stone would open the flow of what one might call the connection to the Divine Inheritance.
