

August Newsletter

Our pictures this month are of St. Germain during the evening of the Virtue of Vision, our friend Linda Thomas teaching her crystal healing class, Part II and the Violet Flame with the title of our August Virtue--Compassion/Wisdom.

It seems as though school just let out and it is almost time for it to start again. Our schools here in Lander start about the 25th of August.

Our summer here finally got hot about the middle of July, but things have stayed green through most of July.

We are attempting to get the Rainbow Center building up and going. We had our biggest renter move out the end of June and we are faced with a very large almost empty building. With diminished income and large bills we may be faced with letting go of the dream. We would appreciate your positive intentions for us, as we would truly love to keep the center open and fill the building with those whose ideas and energies are supportive of what we are creating. We have many ideas, but no funding to bring them about. Not a new story in these times.

We had a good laugh as a group after the channeling. St. Germain spoke about "Let's Deal with the Drama" on July 12 and the Monday after every one in our group here experienced DRAMA. There was missed communication, canceled appointments and missing people. We finally all wound up at the same restaurant for a meal together to discuss just how well we do Drama. It is good to be able to laugh about it. I have found that putting the Virtues into effect in my life is both a blessing and a challenge. St. Germain keeps saying that what is being brought to us in these times is not just mental messages to be thought over and then forgotten. The information that we are now receiving is to be lived. It doesn't matter where you get your messages, they are to be felt, discerned for how they may serve you and then applied to the life that you are living now and in the future.

There are still those who focus on the fact that you must listen only to their words and not to listen to any other channel or message bringer. However, the basic message is very similar no matter where you listen. The languaging is slightly different, but the hope of the future rings loud and clear. The challenge that everyone is facing is that the planet is up spiraling and things just do not work the way they once did. People are still asking "What do I do to make the changes?" The frustration is that planning becomes less and less dependable because the energy on which we have based our plans isn't operating as it once did. Do this and then do this and then do this may or may not come out at the place you desired.

There are those who have caught on to the shifting energies and yet they are still attempting to hard sell the plan. More and more the hard sell leads to let down. The energies of the old order are going, going, gone. It is as though you start using new energy and then you slip back into the old patterns. So much of the change that is happening depends on paying attention and that doesn't happen when you let your mind wander.

Living the Virtues lifts the thoughts and essence of the life into a higher awareness. In that frequency there is more love, more abundance and more freedom because hate, fear and limitation cannot function as the frequency of your life accelerates. You cannot DO acceleration. It is purely an allowable and this drives the EGO crazy. You cannot mentalize these changes because most of them are based on a science of new essence—quantum physics accelerated.

St. Germain says that the Virtues are the ways in which the Masters flow their lives and as we put these values into effect in our lives we will become more comfortable with living our mastery.

There are many Virtues and St. Germain chose twelve, but as we tap into the flow of those twelve we can discover many others that will lift up our lives and let us live powerfully and joyfully in the progression of the planet.

I am noticing, as I am sure many of you are, that things that have been done for a long time that were truly inappropriate are coming to light every day-- hatred, dishonesty, racial prejudice, misconduct on the part of police and military, medical malpractice and on and on. Every day someone else calls and says, "How do I deal with the anxiety, fear and doubt?" Drugs are not stopping the stress because the dis-ease is going into places that the drugs do not address. We cannot function and be knocked out. People say, "If only I could just forget about my troubles." These are times of waking up and remembering where our good lies. The Ego rehearses the woes over and over and then people wonder why things keep getting worse. One of the things we must remember is just how powerful we really are and that every rehearsed woe gathers negative energy to it, JUST AS EVERY POSITIVE THOUGHT AND WORD CREATE A BETTER LIFE. Where two or three are gathered in MY NAME, GOD says there I will be. What if the gathering is not in the name of Good? The energy of stress, anger and fear are still powerful and a group magnifies the outcome. When people gather to plan painful things against each other the negative is magnified.

It takes tremendous courage to focus your thoughts on higher consciousness when people at every side are asking you to join them in depressing thought. Raising your consciousness into the realms of light isn't a fairy tale or something "out there" somewhere. It is a necessary practice every moment of every day.

I challenge everyone to dare to live in a positive, conscious way for twenty-eight days and see just how your life changes as you commit to reaching for the best life you can live. I love you all.

ASTROLOGY

FULL MOON

August opens with our third Eclipse in a row. From the 21st of June to the 20th of July we had two New Moons in Cancer which intensified the emphasis on family and the affairs of our country. There was not a Blue Moon, because the Blue Moon is two Full Moons in the same sign within a month such as August 1 to August 31. Now this extra powerful Lunar Eclipse puts attention on our personal contribution, the offerings of our heart to the world. The Moon in Aquarius brings an element of objectivity to this stream of transformational energy called Full Moon. Where do you require to shine your light now? It is time to connect with new people of similar thoughts and interests.

This Moon in Aquarius semi-squares both Uranus and Pluto, which encourages us to think and live outside of the box. Even though the minor aspects like a semi-square do not have the impact of a square they still motivate us to change our perspective and shift our attitude. Because Pluto and Uranus are only five degrees from an exact square this aspect to the Moon heightens the revolutionary nature of Uranus and the evolutionary movement of Pluto. We may see more rebellion spawned by Uranus which will catalyze greater innovations. Pluto keeps putting the spotlight on our issues around power and responsibility. The absolute “over scrutiny” of potential Justice Sotomayor and the delays to improved health care are examples of the power trips of the old order as it loses its footing in the evolutionary movement of these times.

Mars approaching square to Saturn which will be exact on August 10 calls for more clearing out of things in the life that do not work, from electrical equipment to relationships. For those who feel that they must withhold information and ideas from others, the current energies are going to pry things loose and create a “must share” situation. Mars will trine the Jupiter, Chiron and Neptune conjunction August 13-17. This will continue to stimulate the requirement to share ideas in order to get stuck projects moving. It is a good time to make new alliances. The potential for new technology that can have far reaching effects is stimulated by this aspect and how it stretches into the future. The Sun is also moving in to oppose this Jupiter/Chiron/Neptune conjunction during the same time frame as the Mars trine. This just illuminates the potentials and brings new facts and information into the light.

The Sabian symbols for this eclipse encourage us to take a quantum leap. For the Sun at 14 degrees Leo: “A human soul seeking opportunities for outward manifestation; the yearning for self-actualization.” The Moon at 14 degrees of Aquarius: “A train entering a tunnel; the ability to short-cut the process of natural evolution by the exercise of will, mental skill and physical self-discipline.” The way is lighted into the new future. Follow your heart (Leo) and you will move out of the chaos (Uranus/Aquarius) and into a vast new world.

NEW MOON

This is the fourth SuperMoon of the year. The SuperMoon occurs when the Moon is in its closest approach to the Earth and is either New or Full phase. The gravitational pull on the tides, the tectonic plates and human psyche is increased dramatically at this time.

Leo is the sign of the Lion and the brave heart. When Leo is involved in the astrological equation the questions to be answered are “What puts a spark into your life?” “What did you come to accomplish in this life?” and “Who are you, really?” It takes courage to be faithful and true to yourself and your dream. There is so much programming from society about failure and incapability. The pressures of your peers call you to conform and compromise. Leo calls you to remain in integrity with yourself and your quest. You are a divine creation, a treasure to God. There is not another one like you anywhere. You can be you beautifully, but you cannot be someone else at all.

This New Moon highlights the Jupiter/Chiron/Neptune conjunction in Aquarius by making an opposition. This is just another reminder to be who we really are. The Master St. Germain keeps reminding us that the masks are falling. The facades of the past are collapsing all over the world. Authenticity is an imperative. The illusions have encouraged us to attempt to prove that we are important by making others look bad. The integrity of Leo spotlights these improprieties and looks beyond the brass to find the golden you. The Jupiter/Chiron/Neptune conjunction marks milestones of movement into the age of liberty, equality and freedom for all. This is the At-one-ment of Aquarius that is rising out of the ashes of the parental order of Pisces. Unity does not mean uniformity. The illusion has taught us that to be acceptable you must fit in. A puzzle may have a thousand pieces and each one is a little different. Put them all together and you get the whole picture. Yet if one piece attempts to be just like another there will be something important missing in the whole. The United States have, up to this point, never been united. Each state believes that it is the one after which all of the others model. The planets are asking that each person become so comfortable in their own skin that they can be a team member rather than a boss. Unity brings peace and harmony because there is love and trust, rather than enforced compliance to one way of doing things. Variety makes life interesting. We are being shown the value of diversity. Diversity does not have to lead to dissension. We have been kept divided because if we ever begin to really talk to one another we will see just how interesting the thoughts and ideas of others can be. We must forgive the belief that if someone has a different idea we must give up our own clarity in get along. St. Germain says, “This is de-fense. This is my side of de-fense and that is your side of de-fense. When de-fense is taken away there is no conflict.”

This New Moon is potentized by a grand cross. The ongoing Saturn-Uranus opposition is squared by Pluto and Mars. These aspects generate three oppositions and six squares which demand real, rather than cosmetic changes. We can no longer pretend to change (let’s say we do and don’t). We must walk our talk and be faithful to our words. Pluto—the Lord of the underworld, the Lord of darkness—is bringing us to the gate of the unknown, of evolution into places that are yet unexplored and we cannot go back. When Pluto closes a door there is no handle on your side. There are new doors and windows through which to go forward, but the way of the past is sealed. Like the Fool in the Tarot we must walk to the edge of the cliff and take the next step in Faith. If you feel doubt, worry or trepidation, join the club. Fear is a message that we have arrived at the point of new horizons. Mars is the Pioneer, Pluto the Revealer, Saturn is Time and Uranus is the Inventor. Meditate on these Archetypes of courage, inspiration, practical solutions and strength to assist you in the forward trek as you “boldly go where no one has gone before!”

The Sabian symbol for this New Moon at 28 degrees Leo is “Many little birds on a limb of a big tree; a wide and perhaps confusing openness to a multiplicity of inspiring potentialities.” Leo shows us many options. It is time to consider your visions and dreams. What do you want more than anything? Imagination is the feminine principal of creation and desire is the masculine principal. Live your passion and remember your connection to God/Goddess/All There Is.

CRYSTAL CORNER

From the time I started getting interested in all things metaphysical, I've known we were to assist the earth in her healing and ascension. I didn't have a clue how to do that and found myself so busy with my crystal healing, my business and my family that I felt guilty about not devoting enough time to that very important challenge. Now guilt is such a waste of time that I consulted St. Germain about just what it was I could accomplish when I had so many irons in the fire. He reminded me that anything we do to help others and ourselves to heal helps the earth to heal. We are all connected! Why didn't I think of that?? Anyway, as I got more into the crystal healing and explored all that the stones could do, I found several that could aid the earth's healing. And it seems we are becoming a 'green' society. Good for us AND the earth!

Brochantite is a deep green stone from the times when the earth was sweet, the time of Eden. It brings the memories in the heart and soul to awaken the seeds of Eden. This is a stone especially for those who will, in their love, in their mind and in their thoughts, recreate the earth beautifully.

Scolecite is one of the stones being revealed that come from where you have been and reveal what is being created at the center of the earth. This is involved with the energies at the center of the earth. It is very useful for those who seek higher understanding and would bring the earth into her greater up-spiral.

Verdite, a green stone from Africa, brings the remembering of primal forests, natural times and the exquisite beauty of nature. In every entity, the seeds of Eden exist. To look upon it stirs the remembering of what each one can possibly create if they are willing. Each master would have a part, something they were particularly desirous of seeing upon the earth. This would call them to put their attention upon it. Each one attends to what stirs their passion. The earth begins to heal.

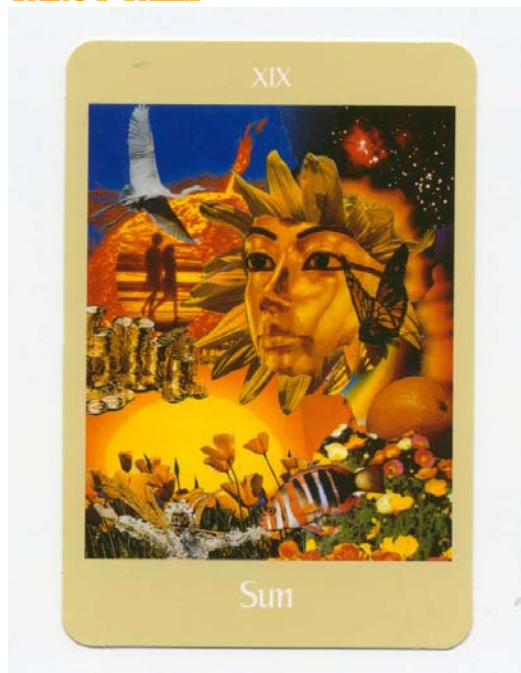

Very little of the Verdite enters the country in the rough. It is mainly used as a carving stone.

To purchase any of the stones talked about in this column, go to my website at www.eternal-ice.com. It is still a work in progress and will probably always be but the stones I mention will be available. Please feel free to contact me with any questions.

TAROT TALK

The card for August is the Sun. The I Ching Hexagram for the Sun is #30, Li/The Clinging Fire. It stands for nature or sun in its radiance.

Through its radiance the four corners of the world are illumined and its light spreads to penetrate the nature of man, (I Ching, p. 119-120).

The Rune for the Sun is Sowilo, which represents the eyes of consciousness of the chakras. Your chakra wheels of awareness move you through your “will”. Like the Sun, Leo is a sign that offers a bright mind, a warm heart, an active body and a fiery spirit.

Let the Sun shine through your heart and soul and fill the body-brain in the solar plexus with radiant light. As you allow your self to be filled with solar power it blends with the power of the Moon’s essence to bring balance within your body, mind and soul.

Share with others. Work and play in the energy of your own central Sun. Be the life of the party. Radiate love and be amazed at how attractive you are—like attracts like.

Some associate the Sun with the brilliant mind. Mind can become confused behind the clouds of the Ego. When your light is shining clearly you reflect the balance of mind and soul connected. The light is not all in your head. It must fill you up fully. When you are not connected the light can blind your reason. Enlightenment comes from the internal connection within.

When the Sun shows up in your reading it is like a green light. The answer is yes to your joyful endeavors. The way is open and the only obstacles that you will encounter are the ones you have placed there. The Sun is like a blessing, a benediction. Even in the reversed position the Sun still brings a lot of energy to any situation. If the position is reversed it would be good to take the time to consider the outcome of your actions before you take them, but that is always wise.

This group is truly exceptional. They may actually have done Toto's song slightly better than the original which is a hard one to follow. Volume up before you start. The start is deceptive so don't be tricked into increasing the volume any more than you have. Click on the link to view and hear.

I thought I would share this bit of information as I keep listening to President Obama, being perfectly clear and then hearing these same stories of woe and horror coming from those who oppose everything that he is attempting to change. One of my children reported that the government was going to penalize the family $3,300 per dependant because they had not had health insurance. Another one of my children claimed that their car was going to be taken away because of the incentive to get older cars off of the road. It is amazing that after the Bush administration was tolerated without much comment, the belief in cruelty from this administration is so quick to come to the fore.

Unhinged!
Rep. Earl Blumenauer
Congressman from Oregon

Three or four times a month I will preside over House proceedings. While this can occasionally be repetitious, I find it to be a fascinating window into House operations. There is no better seat to watch the interactions of Members - who is talking to whom; who pays attention when someone else speaks. When there are large numbers of people on the floor you can watch patterns develop. It is a great way to understand House-dynamics.

Occasionally, you get more than you bargained for. Today, my two hour stint in the Chair was made up entirely of one-minute speeches. This is a House procedure where Members from both parties come to the floor, and the two sides take alternating one-minute shots talking about everything from critical issues to commemorating a championship high school softball team, to an announcement of legislation that a Member is introducing.

Sometimes, however, it isn't pretty. Today, I literally watched Republicans become unhinged as they attempted to outdo one another on the "evils" of programs being considered by President Obama and the Democrats in Congress. As the Republicans took advantage of the unlimited opportunities for one-minute speeches, dozens of them headed to the floor with competing tales of horror that are allegedly in the Democratic approach to health reform.

I listened as people, theoretically speaking from the same talking points, variously claimed that 4, 5, 6 and even 7 million jobs would be lost as a result of the health care plan. A colleague from Oregon claimed that 114 million Americans would lose their health insurance; that Democrats want to socialize 20% of the economy. In as much as healthcare currently is only 16% of the economy, this is quite a trick. Another Republican talked about how extending health insurance to more than 40 million Americans who currently don't have coverage was somehow going to put government bureaucrats in charge?!

It increasingly became more and more surreal. The Democratic plan would leave Americans no choice but to go to emergency rooms (?). Don't they remember George Bush suggesting that's why we had universal coverage now?

Rep. Todd Akin suggested that there would be a 50% chance that he would be dead if he lived in Great Britain because of their failure to meaningfully treat cancer patients. McClintock from California questioned how the same government that operates FEMA could possibly be efficient. I'm shocked that any Republican would bring up FEMA and the disaster of the Bush Administration for an agency that, until the Republicans got a hold of it, was doing a great job in the Clinton years.

Rep. Broun from Georgia demanded to see the bill, "Show us the bill", "don't hide the bill," at exactly the same time that his colleagues were waving the bill and misreading what was in it. Rep. Buck McKeon admonished people to read the bill and then specifically cited Section 1233. Actually, I know a little bit about this section because it's a bill that I wrote which was incorporated into the overall legislation. His statement was a complete fabrication (check out my myth vs. fact sheet). At least he didn't get to the point that Rep. Virginia Foxx of North Carolina did when she claimed that the Republican approach would be more pro-life because it, "would not put seniors in the position of being put to death by their government!" (emphasis added).

I think it was Vice President Dan Quayle who once said that a mind was a terrible thing to lose. This was certainly two hours that gave me a sense of just how confused and disjointed the Republicans are. I hope that Americans will not have to see what a Party looks like when it comes unhinged and damages this opportunity for improving health care for the nation.

The Master St. Germain speaks on the current affairs.

Beloved Masters, we celebrate you in your on going. These times are shifting and changing as the ocean waves rock under a ship. Let us remind you that you are all Masters of your own soul. As you feel the connection to your soul within you, you chose your direction in these times with wisdom. Listen not to the voice of the Ego, crying in your ear, but to the stillness that lives within you that constantly assures you "all is well". The world is in such fear and rumors of the worst possible outcomes pour out from the media and the mouths of skeptics who want change, but fear that things would be different. Taking a step into the unknown takes the courage of Masters and /or Fools. There are those who would say that Mastery is foolishness. Be practical, be logical they cry. Yet they have no solutions that would heal. Those who are "nay-sayers" have no answers. They say "hunker down and wait". I will tell you Beloved Masters that often waiting is important, but it is the energy with which it is done that will bring a positive outcome or not. There are those who would say that if you hold tightly to what you have then you will not lose it. So let I offer a biblical story to make a metaphysical point. “There was a King who called three of his servants to come to him. (We could say that the King is your own higher self) To the first servant he gave five talents (gifts of spirit which the servant was made aware of in the moment), to the second servant the King gave three talents (you have unlimited talent, but in this moment what voice do you hear inside your head?) and to the third servant was given one talent (which was all that he believed that he deserved). To each servant the King said, “Go and invest your talents and return the talents to me”. The first servant went out and invested his talents and returned to the king with ten talents. The second servant brought the fulfillment of his investment and gave the King six talents. The third servant was afraid that if he invested and lost his talent he would be punished, so he took his one talent and buried it in the ground and someone who saw him bury it came, dug it up and stole it.

Some time later each servant was called before the king. The first servant handed the King his ten talents and the King praised him. The second brought his increase and the King again blessed him. The third servant came to the King in great fear and told the King that his one talent had been stolen. The King saw his fear and knew that the fear had taken the talent. The terror that the third servant had experienced was more than enough punishment, but the Bible is filled with retribution and so the King banished the servant.

These times are revealing those who believe that they have no talent to use to change their lives. The fear of loss causes them to bury their talents and pled that there is nothing that they can do about what is going on. After all, they point out, “Everyone I know is having a hard time so why should my life be different?”

Beloved Masters, these are times of crisis and change. They are also times of amazing revelation about who you truly are and what you may accomplish. The Magik of your greater self and the wisdom of your spirit are seeking your attention so that you may rise above the illusions that are being revealed everywhere. You are rich with the wealth of unlimited supply from the Universe, even though you might not see it all in this moment. Releasing the grip of the mind on “just how things are” is like opening Aladdin’s cave for yourself.

There are the minds that are caught in the snares of the old order, that are so afraid that the meager fare that they have will be taken. There are people who believe that any kind of change is dangerous and they spread rumors of dire outcomes at the slightest hint of new ideas. They are caught between heaven and Hell. They are afraid to live and afraid to die. They are afraid to change and afraid not to. They are like a contaminant with their fear and it takes great strength and courage to listen to the stillness within you and know that ALL IS WELL. The voice of authority is believed to come from those who are much older, so when a youth with wisdom speaks it requires a new listening. Just because someone has passed many years does not always assure that they are clear about the ways of spirit or the fullness of life. The capital of your country is filled with conflicting voices and discernment is your greatest tool in these times. Will you hear the clear voices of reason or will you burn in the heat of fear in the voices that want nothing but war and destruction? Raise your consciousness to listen to higher levels of awareness. Feel the love and freedom and caring of those who seek change, not so much for themselves but, for the good of the whole world.

We are waiting and watching, and we can help any and all who are willing, no matter where they are or what they are experiencing. We are on the battle fields holding out our hands to those who can accept life in a different consciousness. We are in homes and businesses and with the elements and nature to assist everything to make the tremendous changes that are called for. We will tell you again and again that we love you, as many times as it takes. We will tell you that you are amazing, powerful, wise beyond your own imagining and valuable beyond price. You are beloved unto God and beloved unto all of us who serve you from the higher realms. Hear this with your soul and your heart. Feel it, feel it, feel it and let it wash away the old. This is a new day, a new life and a new world and it is yours.

So it is with great blessings that I bid you adieu!

Your servant,

the Lord St. Germain
