

July Newsletter

The year is half over and many things have changed here in Lander. We watch new little changes occurring all of the time. Even with the housing crunch Lander continues to build and people continue to move into town and buy homes. New businesses are springing up, also.

My trip to California was great. The intensive was powerful and those who attended spoke in glowing terms about their experience. I am looking forward to future trips to CA and connecting with more wonderful people there.

Some of you have requested pictures of Lander and activities around the town. Dorian is in the process of getting some action shots of street life in Lander. We will begin to put some of those into the newsletter soon.

We have had a long, cool spring that is now ending and the heat of summer is with us. The tourists are passing through on their way to Yellowstone Park and Jackson Hole. The town is busy. There are concerts in the park. There is the annual July 4th street dance. There is hiking, camping and rock climbing in Sinks Canyon and Shoshoni National forest. The "Switchbacks" that go up to Frye Reservoir, Fiddler Lake and Louis Lake are busy. There is boating and swimming at Louis Lake. There is a magical fishing pond between Fiddler Lake and Louis Lake. The whole drive from Sinks Canyon Park to the main highway above Louis Lake and back to Lander is about 80 miles. It makes a wonderful afternoon excursion.

Another beautiful drive which is much shorter and closer to town is Red Canyon Loop Road. This is a photographer's delight. It is about 13 miles of wild flowers, natural wildlife and amazing red cliffs. It is a great drive any time of year when the road is open. Generally, it is open from the end of May to late October.

We went up toward Shoshoni Lake which is where the water for Baldwin and Squaw Creeks as well as the Popo Ashi (sounds like Poposhia) river comes from. You cannot get to the lake except by four-wheeler or horseback, but the road is not too bad for a mile or two past the parking area, if you have four-wheel drive. The wild flowers are breath-taking and the land is so green and beautiful. Dorian has a new, professional camera that is so amazing. She is learning how to take pictures in all types of settings—night, day, time-lapse, slow-motion. We sent about three hours just enjoying the beauty. The air is so sweet that it just lifts your spirits to breathe it—talk about aroma therapy.

We are getting some smoke from the wild fires in California now. The air is somewhat hazy, which is not the normal state of our air. It truly makes me appreciate even more where we live when I go to large cities and see the pollution, as well as to feel how it affects the lungs.

There is a refinery in Riverton that creates inversions in the winter, from time to time. In cold weather we have wood smoke in the air, especially at night. However, generally the quality of our air is rather good.

As you may notice, I am fond of where I live and after having lived in the southwest, southeast and northwest I truly enjoy the experiences of Wyoming and the "Big Sky" country.

Many people ask if I am afraid of being house bound in the winter. The snow that we get is light and fluffy. Generally, we can sweep a path from our front door to our cars. We have no garage and have not yet had a problem starting the cars on cold winter days.

We get plenty of hot weather in the summer and even though we have a short growing season, the gardens flourish and there are plenty of vegetables and fruits. There is a farmers market all summer and many people take part in the community garden.

After experiencing choked freeways in large cities I appreciate the rush hour that lasts about thirty minutes during school and a little longer in the summer.

You can still drive down Main Street on a Sunday afternoon and there may be thirty cars parked here and there along the whole five miles of the town, most of them in front of the local movie theater. In the winter everyone is out skiing or home by the fire and in the summer, as soon as work is over on Friday, people head for the mountains. Personally, my idea of camping out is a nice motel, but it is still wonderful to have the option.

I have decided to issue an "I CAN" challenge to all of the wonderful people I know. This is a challenge to consider where you say "I can't" and change it to "I can" for thirty days. Be conscious of the energy of self-limitation and reinforce your positive direction. We are all being pushed out of our comfort zone of smallness. It is so easy to just say "I can't change", but we truly can. It is so important to our grand future Nows to learn to say "I can", "I shall" and "I will" be better, stronger, clearer and greater than I have been, right now.

Join me in the "I CAN" experiment and see what wonderful changes happen in your life this month. Hopefully, you will be so impressed that you will just keep on saying "I can be successful, I can be rich, I can be well, I can be happy, right now.

I am putting I CAN all over my vision board just to remind me. Love to you all!!

The link can also be found below the menu buttons on the home page of www.voiceofthegatekeepers.com.

Because the survey is anonymous, for those of you, who are interested in sponsoring me in your area, please contact me.

I plan to look into putting a weekly radio program on the internet. I would enjoy hearing from you about whether you would join in. The show would be archived so that you could listen when you choose. We are looking into live broadcasts on the website, so that you can call in and ask questions of me and/or St. Germain.

It appears that we will be creating a sound studio at the Rainbow center, as our internet connections out in the country can be challenging. For those of you who take part in the streaming evenings, you know that just getting the webcast up on the web can be challenging.

ASTROLOGY

NEW MOON

This New Moon brings us more in touch with family as the Moon is in the sign it rules, Cancer. The more we are looking outward toward how we may assist others, the more we are being directed inward to examine our role in the over all scheme of things. Our scope is becoming more cosmic and the internal understanding becomes—the greatness that is out there is within, also.

This New Moon is conjunct Venus which directly opposes Jupiter and just adds to the focus on the family, as the human family—the ties that cross lines of race and bloodline and include those that in the past we feared and/or avoided for cultural or political reasons. Ceres, Goddess of agriculture and fertility, closely cojoins the New Moon to highlight changes in how we see growth and change in our lives. She is equated with birth, death and growth in all aspects of our lives. We are being reminded that there are parts of ourselves that have been splintered off, rejected, over life times and now those parts must be returned to their rightful place in our psyche. The Goddess is returning to her place of equality to restore balance on Earth and in the spiritual energy of our nature. We are being called to remember where we came from in the beginning, not just what planet we recall somewhere else, but our total and true connection to God/Goddess, All that is. We must remember, not just the old, but the ancient past that contains the truth of our being.

Mercury is squaring Uranus and trining Neptune at this New Moon to open our minds to ideas and possibilities that would have been discounted as weird or crazy in the past. We are being called to S-T-R-E-T-C-H our minds and spirits, which in turn affects our bodies and emotional nature. We must consider the outcome of our actions before we take them to properly maintain the Earth for future generations.

There was a time when floods brought new, fresh soil to depleted land so that the next crops would be even better. Now, unfortunately, because of little consideration of outcomes, the floods that have recently occurred brought toxic waste and pollutants to the land. Those who have lived and made their living off of the land are being forced to look at other options. We all being brought to the realization that we may have to become more self sufficient in the future. Goddess emerging calls for more compassion, caring and consideration of the total ecological structure, rather than just “me and mine”.

Pluto, with its focus on birth and death, has retrograded back into Sagittarius until November 27. This will tie up the last loose ends that deal with deep, irreversible changes in how religion and politics function on the planet and also contributes to the increasing evolution of hands across the waters. The leaders who still cling to the old, divisive ways of dealing with political factions will continue to attempt to keep their people in the dark. However, revelation is affecting every area of life on the planet and all people have the opportunity to think and feel for themselves rather than continuing to hear only what the parental order wants them to hear.

Mars has entered Virgo and on July fourth it will cross the point of the point of the February 20 Lunar Eclipse. The message of this most potent eclipse was forgiving and healing. On July 10th, Mars will cojoin Saturn to continue assisting us to transcend shame, guilt and other emotions that have perpetuated separation on this planet. Revelation is not upon us to drown us in more of the same old heaviness. It is the heralding of the clearing away of all that has blinded us to our own magnificence so that we can own our true selves now.

The changes that the planetary movement is setting into effect are motivating us day by day, moment by moment to reconsider how we are living and what is going on in our emotional nature right now, as that is what is creating our tomorrow. What is on your mind? Do you really want to live that in the morning or next week? We are being put on notice to wake up and accept that we do, indeed, create our own reality.

FULL MOON

The New Moon plants deep in the ground or in the psyche. The Full Moon reveals either the fruit or the weeds that were set in place by the new Moons energy. The Cancer Sun shows us where we have fertile crops growing and the Capricorn Moon brings to our attention where there is dead wood, weeds or infertile ground that requires our attention.

We all require parameters in our lives. For ages we have relied on parents (Cancer, Mother and Capricorn, father) when we are young and a parental structure of society to hold us in line in our adult lives. As the Age of Aquarius is almost fully in place and we are beginning to remember our Mastery we must, also, begin to be responsible for our own actions. We have been given mixed messages about how to conduct ourselves. Most of the messages have been based on fighting to get what you want, how hard life is and how you have to be constantly on guard to prevent others from taking your good away. As we respond to the "Secret" of life, that we are the designers and crafters of each person, event and gift or curse that crosses our path we become much stronger and more capable of making choices that inspire ourselves and others to greater good. It isn't so much about heroes as it is about consistent, positive examples of goodness that we create in our own lives and live before others. The more good we see, hear about and live the more powerfully we change our world and therefore, "the world" everyday. We can begin to understand the difference between dominance and dominion, between control and personal discipline and between divine love and some romantic notion that exists in "a land far, far away", never where you live.

When everything is out-focused there is no personal responsibility. When it is always about "them" and never what I contribute or take away nothing is real. When "I" am a part of everything in my life, when I own that my worry is negative creation, when I accept that my actions affect my life and the lives of others, as well as, the whole planet then I become bigger, more important and less needy to prove I have some impact, even if it is negative.

Pluto has touched Capricorn and even though it will not be back into this sign until the end of November, Jupiter's passage and for July the Full Moon passing through the sign keep the momentum of tremendous change going. Everything that no longer serves us, no matter how painful the wrenching away, must now be released. Relationships of all kinds, living arrangements, jobs and careers, all the dead wood of the past and past lives must be cleared away to make room for who we are discovering ourselves to be.

Cancer is about giving and sharing. Capricorn is about giving without measuring what we will get back. The less we consider our won feelings the greater the potential to violate the rights and feelings of others. Being disconnected from all self is about has brought us to the brink of uncomfortable and uncompromising changes, from which there is no escape. Revelation is not about destruction. It is about reconstruction, which means leveling old "towers" to build on solid ground.

The Sabian Symbol for the Sun at 27 degrees of Cancer is, "A violent storm in a canyon filled with expensive homes; a confrontation with a social upheaval demanding the reconsideration of static values." The Sabian Symbol for the Moon at 27 degrees of Capricorn is, "Pilgrims climbing the steep steps leading to a mountain shrine; the ascent of the individual consciousness to the highest realizations reached by the spiritual leaders of its culture." We must now go to that height and then move ourselves further toward our own most valuable realizations of spirit that go beyond the limits of what others have told us.

THE CRYSTAL CORNER

Hello and blessings to all of you. It has finally turned hot in Wyoming after being very cool. We received a third of our annual moisture in May! It really was welcome, though, after about ten years of drought.

This month I will discuss the names of some of the rocks and minerals that are known by more than one name. It becomes a challenge to understand what someone is talking about if you know it by one name and another knows it by something else.

If I said to you that I had a beautiful piece of Pietersite that broadcasts tranquility and brings order out of chaos, you might ask me for the stone and already have in your possession a piece of Tempest Stone. They are one and the same. Tempest Stone might describe what it does very well but a mineralogist would look at you like you were crazy.

A wonderful formation of Merlinite might appeal much more to you than if I said I had a great piece of Psilomilane! There is something magikal about the name Merlinite that one might not feel for Psilomilane. And this stone is to assist in remembering the magik.

Some of the miners and finders of stones get trademarks to protect the names. I chuckle every time I pick up the Boji Stones. These are found in the middle of Kansas and the local people call them Kansas pop rocks. This is because they burst open when heated because of moisture inside. Boji Stones come with authentic certificates and the woman who controls the name will tell you she has activated them and any others will disintegrate because they haven't been stabilized. The pair I have I bought at a roadside market and they haven't disappeared yet! The thing is, if you want to market the stones as Boji Stones, a name everyone recognizes, you have to buy from her or her distributors or risk being sued for trademark infringement. I know this because they threatened me.

I happened to have the certificates but I could have sold Kansas pop rocks and not dealt with them at all.

Some retailers or promoters will buy a relatively inexpensive stone or crystal, give it an exotic name and market it that way. It does create a bit of confusion, though. So, if you can't find a stone by one name, do a little research and you might just find it masquerading as something else!

If you would like to learn more about the stones and crystal healing, I will be doing a Crystal Healing I class the last weekend of July. Contact me for information at (800) 757-8478 or by email at eternalice@bresnan.net. Until next month, enjoy the journey!

Delores DeVore - Websites to visit

This month I would like to let you know of two websites that has been around for awhile, but you may not know about.

The first site is www.wingmakers.com.

The creator goes by the name of James, and I believe he is an Ascended Master, awake, and knows his mission. The site has so much information - be it art, music, poetry, philosophy, cosmology, intrigue and more. As James has said, "The building has many doors on the ground floor. It matters not how you enter the building just that you enter." Once there, you begin to see a grand view. The concept is to bring seekers of Light together - to help bring in the new era and to help in the discovery of the Grand Portal.

You can get lost in the site - not because it is hard to navigate - but because the material is so interesting, time flies by. This is the third version of the site - and many images that were on previous versions are no longer there - but you can see them by checking out some powerpoint slideshows that I created along the way.

www.sound-works.biz/wingmakers.html

Also this site has lots of hidden information - art and more, be sure to check all images - especially the little images on the left under the menus. It is a fun site to explore and you will not be disappointed!

There are two other sites companion sites - www.lyricus.org, which is the teaching foundation, and they teach with stories. The second site is www.eventtemples.com. This site was created so that people all over the world can come together four times a day, and send love and compassion to the earth. The times are 2 am, 9 am, 2 pm, 9 pm, NYC, Eastern Time. To know more about this site and how to enter, see the "What's New section" of www.wingmakers.com. Take the time to join in and be an active part in creating our new world, by helping our fellow human beings in time of need.

The other website that I love is www.matthewbooks.com. This site contains the messages to a mother whose son passed on in 1986. (or there about). After her grieving process, she was able to connect with him and does automatic writing, where her son shares information about planetary changes and more.

There are several books. The first one is "Matthew, Tell Me About Heaven". This gives great information about how what heaven is like - and a great book to give for those who have loved ones have passed over.

All of Matthew's messages are also on the site, so you can read for quite a long time. - Enjoy!

THIS IS A MOST INTERESTING GROUP!

I would like to introduce you to HUB, Humanity Unites Brilliance. This is a most exciting group and the basic premise has St. Germain's signature. Check out the website: <http://Iamlife.hubhub.org>

While I was in California I attended a HUB meeting. I met some truly wonderful people and was even more impressed with the project, the more I heard about it.

Non-profit organizations generally can only put about 10% of the proceeds into the field because of the instability of month to month income. HUB is a for-profit organization and puts 40 % of the monthly proceeds into the field. A wonderful doctor from Haiti, Carol Jean-Murut spoke to the group about the value of micro-loans to African women. She told us that her grandmother fed, clothed and educated herself and her sister with a micro-loan that was provided by a friend. This friend put a $25 deposit at the general store and Carol's grandmother would purchase $25 worth of fabric, make clothing, sell it at the local market and then pay off the loan and buy $25 more of cloth to repeat the process.

We, here in the U.S. can hardly fathom that a mere $25 could make such a difference, but in other countries it can help a woman start a business. The food, water and education that the monthly gift to HUB provides are just the beginning. The assistance in getting a business started so that the people can become more self-sufficient is such a blessing.

In return for the monthly donation you have access to knowledgeable people who can give you guidance and direction for getting your own business moving in a more positive direction.

If you would like to join the HUB group, give me a call and I will sign you up. 307 335-8113
