

June Newsletter

Due to my surgery in May the intensive has been moved to June 17-19. The title and times are the same and the intensive will be at our home.

I have dealt with the female issues of my life all of my life, but for five and a half years it has really been an attention getter. I began to bleed without stopping in April and it has just increased so on May 18 I had a hysterectomy. The surgery was supposed to be a two hour surgery and it was complete in 45 min. I was out of recovery in less than two hours and I was clear and alert. The cancer was contained in the uterus. Just to be on the safe side the doctor wants me to do radiation and I will. There are many things that I can do to keep the radiation from being so severe. Thursday evening after the surgery the doctor came in and said that I would go home on Friday morning, May 20. I had no pain. I left the hospital and went to a restaurant and had breakfast and then we drove six and a half hours back to Lander on lots of bumpy road construction and still no pain. I took meds to keep down blood clots, but other than that I am taking natural supplements and homeopathics. I feel healthy and my highest choice is that I will remain cancer free.

I certainly hope that after this surgery I can be drug free.

We are still waiting for spring to come. It will get up into the seventies and then we will have snow for three or four days. The state is preparing for floods again this year as we have 155% of normal snow pack. When it gets up into the seventies and stays there the mountain snows began to melt and down comes the water. It just happens later here than in other parts of the country.

It is May 25th and I am sending the newsletter to press. I had surgery a week ago and I am amazed at my own progress. I am sleeping, eating and feeling well. I have had no pain, which is a blessing. I thank you for your prayers and healing energy.

I just want to take a moment to thank you to all of you who read, support and comment on the newsletter. I really enjoy putting it together and it is such wonderful confirmation when I hear that you like it also. It is all of you who make all of this worthwhile. Thank You. Molly

ASTROLOGY

NEW MOON

This solar Eclipse occurs on June first and triggers off three catalytic eclipses and four big changes in the heavens over the next few weeks. This eclipse includes new channels of perception alters our point of reference dramatically. Because the consciousness operates like a camera, what we see depends on where we stand. Our beliefs and judgments define our reality. Gemini brings a reminder that there is no one exact point of view that can define existence for everyone.

Ceres makes a close square to the Moon’s Nodes (North Node in Sagittarius and South Node in Gemini) underscoring an ongoing cosmic directive. Ceres was named for the Roman Goddess of grain, giver of life. In Pisces, Ceres can heighten our awareness to all of creation. We are now faced with sweeping changes in how we deal with the shortage of food and Mother Nature. When we get complacent often nature will give us a wake up call—wheat does not just happen and bread does not come from the bakery without nature’s contributions.

Saturn which is closely related to the Earth is trine this Eclipse. The direction is for all of the Earth’s inhabitants to understand that without the human alliance we will become more and more deprived. It can no longer be the idea that “we must get ours even if they starve”. The shifts on the planet are requiring that all be attended to. Saturn represents Father Time and as the frequencies of the Earth are changing we can notice the reshaping of how time and space operate. Time does not literally operate on a line. Time and space are the warp and weave of the Great Weaver. They form the tapestry of our life. We have always manipulated time, but now we are being brought to the place where we have to admit that we really are the creators of our own reality and that reality is different from the creations of others. Saturn has been retrograde since January 25 and will turn direct on June 12, just three days before the next eclipse. We are learning not just to be “on time”, but how important it is to be clear and present in each moment.

On June 2, Neptune, archetype of timelessness and multidimensional consciousness, begins a five month retrograde period. Each year the outer planets make a retrograde of several months to give us time to ponder just where we will go next with our life direction. This retrograde of Neptune will increase the dissolution of old constructs that prevent us from recognizing our interconnectedness with all of creation. As Neptune stations to retrograde, it squares Mercury, fogging the logical left brain while clarifying the right brain’s intuition. Chiron represents a bridge between the physical and metaphysical realms. It begins its five-month retrograde on June 8 in early Pisces. This marks an opportunity to forgive our addiction to the wounds of our past—the trauma and indoctrination that have held us in fear and separation. Neptune and Chiron will station to go direct within one day of each other on November 9 and November 10.

On June 4 Jupiter begins its passage through Taurus that occurs only once every twelve years. It will remain in Taurus until June 11, 2012. This transit increases our desire for peace, pleasure, beauty and safety. The star Aldebaran, the Eye of the Bull in the constellation Taurus, is at almost 10 degrees of Gemini, within a degree of this eclipse. According to Shamanic astrology, Aldebaran is a portal to the mysteries of the mind and when balanced with the energies of the star Antares at almost 10 degrees of Sagittarius, becomes an opening to the mysteries of the heart.

This New Moon under lines the statement: “Lose your mind and take charge of your life”. This is a time of DIVIEN INSANITY. When we come out of the ordered, structured, limited and conditional mind that operates “in the box” we begin, once again to operate in the Body-brain (the solar plexus). We functioned in the Body-brain until we got so caught up in separation that we begin to accept the concept that the soul must be in the head because the head is the highest point in the body. “It makes sense, huh?” So we left the place of center—close to the love of God—and allowed the EGO to begin to control everything. Now the movement of the planets is calling us home. We are required to live the Love that we are.

FULL MOON

Every time there is an eclipse we make another movement toward higher consciousness. As the Moon momentarily disrupts the flow of all of the ultraviolet, infrared, radio and X-rays coming from the Sun, we “reboot and reconfigure” our consciousness. Buried emotions and hidden memories float to the surface revealing both our limitations and motivations. This Lunar Eclipse occurs on June 15.

Mercury will be in close contact with both the Sun and the South Node in Gemini. This not only brings us a broader perspective, but assists us to be much clearer about what we are experiencing. Mercury's opposition to the Galactic Center can confront us with truths that are both shocking and empowering. We are being brought to a point where we can no longer look the other way because everywhere we turn the revelation is showing us something new. Misrepresentations of the media will begin to show up for what they really are and have been for so long—an attempt of certain groups to manipulate the minds of the masses into believing that they are not really seeing and hearing what they feel that they are. The Magician saying, "Watch this hand, not that one."

The Moon and North Node are in such close proximity to the Galactic Center that they amplify the theme of this eclipse and the whole of 2011: to develop not only global consciousness, but a galactic awareness as well. Sagittarius is concerned with the search for truth and broadening our horizons. Jupiter, the planet most associated with Sagittarius, symbolizes expansion on all levels, but particularly our faith, philosophy and how we view the bigger picture. How did we live when we were not separate from each other, from nature or from our Universe? What would you change if you realized that there are infinite forms of intelligence in our galaxy and universe and everything has a divinely appropriate place in the scheme of things? The Mind has made things smaller and smaller in order to create an illusion of control when there, truly, is no human way to control the cosmos and never has been.

Ceres continues to transit Pisces and at this eclipse squares not only the Moon's Nodes but the Sun, Moon and Mercury in Gemini and the GC in Sagittarius, accenting the transitional and transcendental nature of these times. Ceres is the most massive of the celestial bodies orbiting between Mars and Jupiter. There is speculation that this asteroid belt is the remnant of a planet that was either destroyed or never fully formed. (possibly Maldek) This transit of Ceres through Pisces is helping us to remember and reclaim what has splintered off from the collective psyche. Some of what we must reintegrate is the Divine feminine, the ancient connection to our own sacred self and the absolute necessity of living a heart-centered, Soul connected life.

Several other alignments reinforce Ceres message of connection, compassion and co-creation. Mercury in Cancer trines Neptune in Pisces to bring the collective mind to a Soulful connection with the inner Love inspiring us and bringing us to greater empathy. Venus's approaching trine to Saturn on June 17—Gemini/Libra) and the Sun getting ready to trine Neptune (June 22) draws us into greater vision and cooperation. This Full Moon brings us another step closer to the cultivation of beauty and a communion with life engendered by the Goddess, rather than fantasy and domination of the patriarchy.

Use the light of this Full Moon to see what old beliefs and fears may be holding you back. "Knowledge without wisdom is like bread without wine. The communion is incomplete". -St. Germain

CRYSTAL CORNER

Hi everyone! I hope you have been having some nice weather so you can be outside and enjoying your spring. We'll be talking about the sign of Gemini, the twins, in this column. Keep in mind when I talk about the stones that each author or healer has his or her own definition of what they can do. Crystals and stones are multi-faceted and therefore can do many different things on many different levels. Not being versed in astrology beyond the very basics, I've turned to Judy Hall and her book 'The Crystal Zodiac' for greater information. Here, too, her information might differ from that of someone who does astrology charts. So, take what you can use and have fun with it!

Agate, Peridot and Aquamarine are most closely associated with the sign of Gemini. In her book, Judy also lists Tourmaline which is a rarer association. Your innate ability to multitask is strengthened by your Agate birthstone as this stable and grounding stone encourages you to pay precise attention to details while still seeing the bigger picture. This stone's multiple layers bring hidden information to light. Known as the dual sign, one with two sides to its nature, Agate has the ability to integrate this duality. Don't expect this to come about quickly, though, as Agate works quite slowly.

Tourmaline works more quickly and is just as important for a dual sign as it balances the two sides of the brain and integrates your inner and outer selves. The brown Tourmaline, or Dravite, grounds you and assists in paying attention to practical matters. On other levels, Dravite would be associated with the star system of Sirius. It would aid in the reclamation of the cellular memory.

Aquamarine is a freedom stone, a stone of purity. The purity of purpose assists the freedom. Aquamarine may also aid in calming your mind and removing extraneous thoughts. It filters the information reaching your brain and clarifies your mental processes. That can be freeing, indeed! Peridot is very loving, an unconditional love. It bonds truth, will and unconditional love.

As a Gemini, you have a tendency to push yourself and are prone to nervous exhaustion. This can be alleviated by the Golden Topaz which acts like a battery and recharges your energy. Laying down for 15 minutes or longer and holding a Topaz is extremely beneficial. This gem is also great for soothing fears and easing digestive disorders.

And so, another month has passed and we're halfway through the year. Enjoy the journey!

I am always happy to answer questions and meet new people. Please contact me for more information.

THE GARDEN FAIRY

Rosemary

Rosemary is a magnificent plant with a long history; it is one of the oldest recorded herbs in history. References to rosemary were found written in cuneiform on stone tablets dating from the 5th millennium B.C. Dioscorides, the 1st century Greek physician, recommended it for its “warming faculty”; ancient Greek students wore garlands of rosemary to improve their memory. The Latin name, “Rosmarinus,” means “dew of the sea”; it was so called because it grew around the Mediterranean and became associated in ancient Rome with Venus, the goddess of love who was supposed to have sprung from the sea foam. Because of that legend, it became the symbol of fidelity in love and was used at weddings and funerals.

Christians called rosemary the “Holy Herb” and associated it with Mary, who, according to Spanish legend, draped her cloak over a rosemary bush on the Holy Family’s flight to Egypt, turning the color of the blossoms from white to blue. Rosemary-along with juniper and thyme-was burned in medieval hospitals as an antiseptic. It was widely grown in kitchen gardens in England at the time; an old folk saying was that “Where rosemary flourishes, the woman rules.” Down through the ages, it acquired a reputation for aiding memory.

Rosemary was brought to America by the early colonists and was highly prized in the first settlements because the plants had to be carefully stored inside during the cold New England winters.

Today, we think of rosemary primarily as a kitchen herb. It is outstanding with lamb or chicken, great with baked potato spears, and makes a refreshing, potpourri or moth repellent ingredient, or in aromatherapy. The leaf stimulates circulation and eases pain by increasing blood supply where applied. Aids fat digestion. Good for aching joints and rheumatic pains.

Rosemary Chicken Breasts

4 chicken breasts, halved
4 tsp. fresh rosemary leaves, minced
4 cloves garlic, minced
2 Tbsp. Olive Oil
Salt and Pepper to taste

Mix together minced fresh rosemary leaves and minced garlic. Loosen skin from chicken breasts and slide rosemary/garlic mixture under the skin. Brush olive oil onto breasts and sprinkle with salt and pepper.

The breasts can now be grilled over medium-hot fire for about 20-30minutes, or until done as desired. Or they could bake in a 375 degree oven for about 30 minutes.

True friends are hard to come by – thanks for being one

I generally do not dwell on the aspects of death, simply because we have so much life to focus on, but this is an excellent way of viewing the possibilities of what lies on the other side of what we call death. – Molly

There was a young woman who had been diagnosed with a terminal illness and had been given three months to live. So as she was getting her things 'in order,' she contacted her Pastor and had him come to her house to discuss certain aspects of her final wishes.

She told him which songs she wanted sung at the service, what scriptures she would like read, and what outfit she wanted to be buried in.

Everything was in order and the Pastor was preparing to leave when the young woman suddenly remembered something very important to her.

'There's one more thing,' she said excitedly..

'What's that?' came the Pastor's reply.

'This is very important,' the young woman continued. 'I want to be buried with a fork in my right hand.'

The Pastor stood looking at the young woman, not knowing quite what to say.

'That surprises you, doesn't it?' the young woman asked.

'Well, to be honest, I'm puzzled by the request,' said the Pastor.

The young woman explained. 'My grandmother once told me this story, and from that time on I have always tried to pass along its message to those I love and those who are in need of encouragement. In all my years of attending socials and dinners, I always remember that when the dishes of the main course were being cleared, someone would inevitably lean over and say, 'Keep your fork.' It was my favorite part because I knew that something better was coming...like velvety chocolate cake or deep-dish apple pie. Something wonderful, and with substance!'

So, I just want people to see me there in that casket with a fork in my hand and I want them to wonder 'What's with the fork?' Then I want you to tell them: 'Keep your fork the best is yet to come.'

The Pastor's eyes welled up with tears of joy as he hugged the young woman good-bye. He knew this would be one of the last times he would see her before her death. But he also knew that the young woman had a better grasp of heaven than he did. She had a better grasp of what heaven would be like than many people twice her age, with twice as much experience and knowledge. She KNEW that something better was coming.

At the funeral people were walking by the young woman's casket and they saw the cloak she was wearing and the fork placed in her right hand. Over and over, the Pastor heard the question, 'What's with the fork?' And over and over he smiled.

During his message, the Pastor told the people of the conversation he had with the young woman shortly before she died. He also told them about the fork and about what it symbolized to her. He told the people how he could not stop thinking about the fork and told them that they probably would not be able to stop thinking about it either.

He was right. So the next time you reach down for your fork let it remind you, ever so gently, that the best is yet to come. Friends are a very rare jewel, indeed. They make you smile and encourage you to succeed. Cherish the time you have, and the memories you share. Being friends with someone is not an opportunity, but a sweet responsibility.

And just remember...keep your fork!

The BEST is yet to come!

TAROT TALK

Our tarot card for this month is the Universe. We are being brought more and more to the point where we cannot, in our smallness, say that we are all there is. The absolute arrogance of the EGO-ic mind to assume that this small planet is the only place in the Universe that has life or that our life form is superior must change as the whole of the cosmos is shifting into higher understanding. The nature of the Universe is all inclusive. Each human being is a seed of the cosmic design. You are one with everything that exists. Anywhere that you would attempt to deny that connection is a point of suffering and a deep wound of separation.

The Runes of the Universe card are Mannaz and Othala. Mannaz is the symbol for your wholeness, the complete person that God brought forth. Othala, means that you have inherited the gifts and qualities of the universe. You carry the Universe in your genes!

You contain within yourself a universe of possibilities. Everything that God could imagine is a potential that lies within you. The only limits on your ability to create are the doubts and judgments that you have designed to keep you “safe” from expansion. Anything that crosses your mind is a possibility. The greatest dream that you can imagine is only a beginning.

Like the unfinished work of Michael Angelo you are the stone from which the master piece is carved, but you will never be finished. You are forever a work in progress.

The word “universe” is comprised of two Latin words, unus meaning “all together one” and verse meaning “turning”. So universe means a “revolving totality”. The Kabbalah letter-name for the Universe is Tav, meaning “cross”. Tav therefore signifies the four corners, or totality. Again and again the symbols for the Universe suggest oneness and fulfillment through change, death and renewal, revolution.

The I Ching hexagram for the Universe is #64, Wei Chi/Completion: ...a transition from chaos to order.

The archetypal concept of wholeness through diversity and change gives the Universe its astrological association with Saturn which is a symbol of Cronus, Father Time, primal cause supreme deity. Saturn is presently transiting the sign of Libra and there is a strong focus on how we create in cooperation with others—the balance and harmony of the I/We.

When the Universe card appears in your reading it is putting you on notice that big things are in the works, change is eminent and nothing can remain as it was. Expand, stretch and be willing to imagine things that are beyond your imagining. Be willing to step into the unknown. Let spirit strengthen your faith so that you are not afraid to move out of what you have known. You are going new places, whether mentally, physically or emotionally. Movement is a sure thing with the Universe backing you up. The boundaries that you have known will disappear. This really is not an unsafe place, but simply a much bigger space than you have dared to allow. Celebrate the Universe card. It means that your Mastery is emerging.

ST. GERMAIN'S MESSAGE

Dearly Beloved Masters, your healing and spiritual evolution comes much more quickly when your focus is on how you are changing rather than what is going on in the world. In fact, one of the greatest disciplines that all of you face is to forgive donating your precious power to things that you cannot change. Your power will assist you to bring about monumental shifts within yourself and therefore in the world. You can make a difference that is beyond words as you release the hold on how things must be and begin to allow spirit to show you the way “further in and further up” as Aslan said in the “Chronicles of Narnia”.

Your life is important to the planet. LISTEN!!!
YOUR LIFE IS IMPORTANT TO THE PLANET!
It is imperative that you forgive assessing your importance by outer demonstration only. Showing the world that you are important, in a time when so many are fighting for their lives and do not have the strength or consideration for what is going on with someone else, just uses power that you could put into your own evolution. When we speak of focus on self we are not advocating self-centeredness. In fact, as you begin to truly focus on your own healing and overcoming you will notice the essential difference between EGO driven disassociation and spirit guided awareness. You notice yourself, often for the first time in a long time, and have a clear idea of what is really happening to you and for you. You also become so powerfully aligned that you have the energy to see what is going on around you without getting lost in it. Beloved Masters, you cannot heal the world!! Partly because there are so many that in fear and anger will not allow healing. They do not believe that they deserve to be healed and at the same time they are demanding that the healing be forced upon them which goes against free-will. It is not the JOB of humanity to decide how others will make their evolution. That remains in God's hands and if the EGO is telling you that God is ordering you to make others change it is imperative to get clear within that God is not ordering things to be done. When you have an awareness of your own divine mission it will be a loving, almost overwhelmingly sweet sense of the reason for you to live and move and have your being. It will not be, I promise you, to be a drill sergeant at the head of God's army. That is an illusion of the order that is dying. Loving healing and battle cannot exist in the same place. Finding a sense of peace in the shambles of the destruction that was created to make peace is erroneous.

There is chaos everywhere in the world. Many would choose to believe that it is God's punishment reigned down on those who are evil, even though the Bible says that it rains on the just and the unjust. There are mixed blessing in “being saved”. There could be the sense of relief that God loved enough to protect and on the other hand the concern of “Why was I saved and not someone else?” God is not fickle!! Nor, Beloved Masters, is God a judge who is meeting out punishment in the latter days. What the Earth is experiencing is a culmination of all of the thought forms that have been cast into the ethers massing together like clouds (have you ever done cloud herding on a summer afternoon?) of energy—like attracts like. Angry, destructive thought forms are pulling together and good, kind and loving thought forms are drawing together. This is not happening for battle, but there is a great necessity to be very clear about your choices and where your attention is going in these times.

There are many brilliant minds that are focused on figuring out why things are happening and what to do about them. This is just another version of battle strategy. Since the mind can only operate within the confines of the information that it has these strategies are based on the stuff of the World and not the essence of spiritual upliftment. There are books and papers and theories everywhere and every one has truth in it. Each Master in these times is in his or her own point of evolution so some things will resonate with the Soul and some will not depending on where you personally are operating. There is no better or worse place of evolution. You are where you have allowed yourself to be by choice. Things that were not true in your understanding ten years ago are true now because you have changed your perspective. All Truth is true, but not all truth is true for everyone in the same way at the same time. You are God created individuals. Some will want to argue over semantics such as saying God rather than Allah or Jehovah. Others want to have everything spoken of in ways that they have always known. Change, an internal shift of consciousness, brings more love into the Soul/heart/mind connection and opens up an interpretation that comes, not from the EGO but from the spirit. As the narrowness of the World falls away a space opens up within and without that is so grand that there are no words to tell you. When you experience it you will know without having to be assured. The Love will permeate every cell, enlightenment alters your vision and the feelings of pure Love-light will bring acceptance of all things Now.

You cannot fight the Hell that is happening on Earth and win. You can let go of the struggle and be amazed at how you are lifted above the fray. You don't stop being aware of what is going on, but you become clear that God really does have it all in Hand. You are in Good/God Hands.

What is going on in the world is distracting to becoming who you really are. The changes occur when you change, not when the World changes first. You are a Master designer, a Master creator and you are—right now in this moment—creating the next moment, the next hour, the next day. Worry is the highest form of negative creation and it makes you feel helpless. Clarity about what you desire helps the design of your world to become a work of art. The biggest, most powerful changes that you have ever made are called for now. You cannot look around you to see what others are doing. “What would Jesus do?” “What would Oprah do?” have nothing to do with the power of “What will YOU DO?” in each situation, in each crisis, in each revelation of your life. You are the one that you must turn to and find the God within your own self. You are stronger than you might imagine, but not by the measures of the World. Strength, by the World's measure, is small in comparison to the immeasurable dynamics of Spirit within each one of you. “I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my strength”. Look deep within your self to find the high places that assure you that you are well.

The healing is in breaking the addiction to looking to the past to create your future. You simply keep living the same things over and over because the focus of the mind is on what it knows rather than on the unlimited potential that exist beyond what has been before. Forgive studying the old ways. Your healing lies in the ancient ways and they are not available through the limits of the mental realms. The healing that you seek comes from forgiveness and acceptance of all that you are. Let go of what was, let go of your wars, release your struggles and determine to make each day a better day no matter what life brings you. When you look around to see if anyone is watching to see what you are doing—good or inappropriate—you are delaying you miracles, because they may not even recognize that such a miracle could happen. Be a teacher of expanded goodness and brilliant awareness. Take the lessons of power that you have been given and teach others. If you do not feel that you have received lessons of power, then Dearest Masters, reach into the depth of your Soul and bring up the words and actions that will allow you to go forth, a greater being than you have been before. Be an example—it is up to you what example you will be.

You are unlimited. YOU ARE UNLIMITED! YOU ARE A DIVINE, UNLIMITED, CREATIVE MASTER WITH THE CAPABILITY TO CHANGE THE WORLD FROM THE INSIDE OF YOURSELF OUTWARD!!! You have influence. How do you want to influence the world? You influence by your choices every moment. You are not some small, insignificant human that means nothing in the over all scheme of things. Your personal dynamics influence the planet and all of her people. If you say you chose to make a difference, make it right where you are and the ripples will go out and touch others who will, perhaps, make different choices because of your love and peace. Just thinking that you are peaceful, but refusing to acknowledge your anger and fear, makes little if any healing. Wanting others to change so that you may see what change looks like still prevents you from having the experience of feeling how change affects everything and everyone. Become a part of the healing by allowing yourself to integrate with the higher principles. This is not an intellectual practice, but a deep, internal, all embracing process that can move quite quickly as you forgive trying to manipulate the energy.

There are groups of people who are terribly wounded and in their wounding they want someone to pay a price for their pain. Some times these groups are place in a category—Muslims, Al Kida, extremists—but the pain of the wound is everywhere and the blame cannot be placed on a religion, a country or a particular group of people. There are angry people all over the world. As you begin to connect with your divine All-ness you can release your own attachment to the wounds that you have encountered throughout time. As you forgive these wounds your inner vision clears and you begin to see all of life from a new perspective. The more clarity you achieve the greater your potential to make important changes because you are more aware of how you created limits, because of your wounds. Being open to greater Love directs your attention and focus to how to create beauty, serenity and joy in your own environment which becomes an energy source that feeds the clouds of peace and positive potential.

Keep the faith in these times of crisis. Keep the peace within while storms rage in the World outside. Keep the sense of comfort that comes with the assurance of Love that surrounds you and indwells you. Keep still in mind and emotions so that you may hear the guidance of Spirit. Know, feel, accept that there is nothing that you have ever done that would prevent God from loving you, no matter what the World says. We will tell you again and again how Loved you are until you hear/feel the truth of it. We will assure you that you are accepted and embraced in God's Love. If you break divine law the punishment that you find is from your own EGO, not from God-I AM.

Dearly Beloved Masters, feel the healing pouring into you. Allow the vessel that you are to be filled to overflowing. Let that over flow be your gift to the World and realize that you are still full. You may pour out the Love and the Goodness and as fast as you pour it out God fills you up again. If you don't feel full, seek within to see if the EGO is still telling you that the good was never for you. You are not an empty tube flowing good to others, but not to you. You are a vessel that is to be filled to overflowing with the greatest abundance and that belongs to you. What you share with others from your fullness takes nothing from you. Actually, as you allow the more that you give the more that you receive—that is Divine Law.

So Masters, we embrace you and salute you for the courage and determination that it takes to come up over the old ways. In the most powerful Love that you can possibly imagine we support you. Until we meet again I remain your most humble servant. I AM the Lord St. Germain
