

MAY NEWSLETTER

May is here and those who have been waiting for warm weather are still waiting. We still are having snow every few days. Such is springtime in the Rockies. As we are putting the publication out we have snow and have had snow for the last three days. This is wet spring snow that is bringing good moisture to the area and we are very thankful for every inch. It takes about 12" of snow to make 1" of water. We had a foot yesterday. Average annual rainfall (moisture level) in Wyoming is about 12".

Lander is growing so fast. Every time we go into town there is a new house being built. Most of the homes are being built in the county so the census population of Lander doesn't register the growth just outside of town.

I can remember years ago hearing predictions about tremendous winds as the earth changes draw nearer. We had a metal roof put on our home this winter because the winds kept blowing the roof off. Shingles just don't hold up as well out here in the country. We get some mighty big winds at times, can't get the front door open.

RAINBOW CENTER NEWS

Our next group will be "Windows of Opportunity" on Sunday May 11 at 2 p.m. at the Rainbow Center for the Humanities.

St. Germain says that there are windows of opportunity available everywhere, but we become so involved in the world that we miss the opening. He says they are helping to open more windows in the hope that if we feel a draft we will step through into new places of possibility and perhaps even impossibility.

CD's can be purchased on the website at www.voiceofthegatekeepers.com/2008groups.html

Our next evening with St. Germain will be "Where Do We Go When We Die?" This is a question that most everyone has asked at one time or another and St. Germain will tell us about where they are, where we go, what happens then and that even death is changing its form as we are moving into new levels of consciousness. The Evening will air Wednesday May 21 at 7 p.m. EDT-4 p.m. PDT with constant showing ever two hours all weekend long May 24 through May 26.

To sign up for the Evening on the website www.voiceofthegatekeepers.com/live-events.html

To order CD's or DVD's www.voiceofthegatekeepers.com/evenings.html

Our intensive "Practical Magik: The Blending of Earth and the Wonder Realms" will be June 6, 7-8 in Oceanside, CA. The Evening with St. Germain June 6 is "Can You See the Sounds and Hear the Colors of Magik?" Go to the website for more info and to register. The deadline for the $350 weekend is May 23. The weekend with the evening is $375. The evening alone is $45. The first 25 people to sign up for the intensive get the evening free.

ASTROLOGY NEW MOON

This New Moon on May 5, is the first of the Super Moons this year. The Super Moon means that the Moon is the closest it gets to the Earth and the gravitational pull creates extra heavy tides and earthquake activity. Since Taurus is associated with the Earth there is generally more quake activity this time of year, anyway. Usually this occurs in the time right around Buddha's birthday, May 8-10 the Earth activity is more powerful each year.

Venus, ruler of Taurus, is also in Taurus for this new Moon. This can direct our attention to earthly affairs. The changing economy has everyone's attention. Venus is Goddess energy and Goddess mind, which focuses on the soft, gentle aspects that allow us to create what we desire without push or panic. Linear mind focuses on fear, limit, not enough, how hard life is, etc. As the Goddess is emerging we will feel the draw more and more to the desire for ease and the old fears that if things are too easy they must be suspect is strong. As we look at where our lives are going it is well to put the attention on what we desire our future to be rather than what we fear it might become. Remember we are the designers of our becoming and our ongoing. When you are caught in webs of fear it is difficult to imagine something better, so when you are feeling good is the time to start laying foundations of happiness to build on for the shifts.

Venus is involved with Pluto in Capricorn and Saturn in Virgo, which stations to go direct May 2, to form an earth trine. Trines always give the things we desire a boost and move us forward with the greatest of ease, like wind in our sails. Many people are noticing that the winds around the planet are picking up. We have to trim our sails or adjust our allowables to go with the flow. These potentials include gaining more of our desires and transforming the old ways into something useful for the times to come.

Venus is the Goddess of Love and we have attempted to make her the Goddess of lust, which is an entirely different element. She has become associated with the illusions of Hollywood rather than the truth of Divine understanding and faithfulness. The planets keep moving us out of the old perspectives and gently, though, sometimes not so gently closing the doors behind us. Pluto is opening new doors, but if we are scared sometimes we do not recognize the way out of tight places because our vision is distorted by fear. Venus is holding the lamp of enlightenment high for us so that we can move along our way clearly. This trine of earth will help us keep grounded without being ground down.

Jupiter in Capricorn will turn retrograde on May 9 and remain in retrograde until September 7. This emphasizes the requirement for sensible solutions and feeling how our plans are affecting us by paying attention to the solar plexus. St. Germain speaks, in the latest Evening with St. Germain "To Your Wealth", about the first step of wealth being a soft approach. When your solar plexus is tense, hard or it feels like you are pushing you have moved away from soft energy and you are trying too hard. (this is the old way of doing things)

Pluto forms a susquiquadrate to the Sun and Moon at this New Moon and makes us examine our motives so that we can feel the outcome of our actions before we take the step. This helps us to make wise choices, rather than to act in haste and repent in leisure. What is ending or has been dead in your life for a while? Does your relationship have a "dead body" in the living room? Are you propping up the out moded relationship and still attempting to convince yourself and others that it is alive and well? How long has it been since you really felt congenial toward your job? Is your career at a standstill? Pluto says, "You can let go now or it will be ripped out of your grasp". Are your hands aching with the attempt to hold on to things that no longer serve you? Believe it or not this is what evolution looks and feels like. Change has been a wonderful dream as long as it didn't get too close. Now change is encroaching and it will not go away.

When a teacher becomes complacent he/she fails to interest the students. The old order is losing its ability to keep our interest, which incidentally, was often held by fear and threat. People are looking for something fresh and new. Fear often keeps them looking in the same old places, but the doors are closing and we are being called to search for truth rather than platitudes. It may feel frightening, but it also feels big, expansive, open and powerful. These are all of the things we have been looking for and hoping we could have them without the responsibility. We now get to redefine responsibility in order to achieve what is actually ours already.

FULL MOON

This Scorpio/Taurus Full Moon falls on May 19-20 and creates a Grand Cross with the Moons Nodes—

North Node in Aquarius and South Node in Leo. Again the focus is on what we desire to draw into our lives and making a space for the new by releasing the old. Are we really taking care of ourselves, our bodies, our planet, which is a reflection of us, and our most cherished resources or are we just talking about it?

The 29th degree of Taurus aligns with the Pleiades. Much of our history refers to this star group. It is mentioned three times in the Bible (Job 9:9 and 38:31 and Amos 5:8 several Native American creation stories relate to the Pleiadeans as their ancestors who came to this world as Starseed. The 28-29th degrees of a sign always indicate a time of finishing old lessons. It shows where we are experiencing endings. Because Taurus relates to money, abundance, the land and its plenty and security we are being led to examine our value systems in relationship to these areas of our life and make appropriate changes. The changes cannot be forced. Both Taurus and Scorpio are fixed signs and do not move quickly or necessarily, easily, without clarity as to why the change will benefit.

Chiron and Neptune in Aquarius and Mercury in Gemini are just days away from turning retrograde and this heightens their influence at this Full Moon. Both Chiron and Neptune are square the Sun and Moon at the full Moon. Chiron always shows us the path of our soul's evolution and Neptune deals with the other than worldly aspects of our lives. Many people have turned to drink and drugs to help them deal with the fear and pain of all the changes that are happening at once. Neptune shows the vistas of our spiritual becoming if we are willing to look beyond the illusions of the old ways. The awareness is being offered, by the Masters, that beyond illusion is where life really happens. Neptune is the veil that separates us from the truth and the facades of this game. Some see the veil as impassable, some desire to see beyond it, but believe to do so is to die and others don't believe that anything other than what we are living exists. We are being shown new and different ideas, concepts and potentials. The planets are energetically opening the way.

When Mercury goes retrograde it causes all kinds of communication snafus. It will go retrograde on May 26. Travel plans, hotel accommodations, contractual agreements and all manner of issues that are associated with the written or spoken word can go awry. Mercury generally stays retrograde about three weeks, but in more recent times I have been noticing that the three weeks when Mercury is retracing its path back to where it went retrograde can be more challenging than the actual time it is retrograde.

The old ways of valuing ourselves by our things are falling apart. People are on a headlong down spiral of buying, buying, buying and feeling worse all of the time, because so much of what is purchased is bought with illusions. The paper game of the planet is that the consumer must put up real goods in order to use a credit card or get a loan. The banks or credit companies are all playing with paper, there is nothing real involved. If you do not put up currency to pay the bill then your real goods can be taken away from you. The gamble is always can you "pay the piper"?

Scorpio is ruled by Pluto and Pluto is just beginning to lift the edge of the rug where all of the things we didn't want seen have been swept. The shadows of illusion are not really evil, so much as all of the inept attempts of the few to gain control over the many. The spells of fear and lies of the power hungry are Neptunian energy and the revelations of Pluto will put the light of truth on all of the fear-based creations on the planet. Freedom isn't just "doing what ever I want, whenever I want to". Freedom is directed by the strength and power of love, which would never create anything against another that would be less than the best, because whatever is created always seeks out the creator first. The appearances that people are "getting away with things" are collapsing. These changes aren't really cruel, but things being brought to balance.

Taurus desires security and Scorpio cuts away the unnecessary. Aquarius seeks Truth and Leo desires love. Feet on the ground-Taurus- and connection to spirit-Scorpio-such is the energy of this powerful Full Moon.

I really liked this article posted by Fran Jurga

I've written articles over the years about horses who survived amputation surgery. There was Boitron, the California Thoroughbred stallion who could service mares after amputation surgery. There were Dr. Ric Redden's dramatic cases of founder survivors who galloped around his paddock on artificial feet with 'transplanted frogs'. Dr. Chris Colles had the never-say-die Appaloosa in England with the spring-loaded foot. And who can forget that paint yearling in India? Or the landmine-maimed elephant amputee in Thailand? Longtime Hoofcare and Lameness Journal readers will remember them all.

So when I first heard that a pony had survived amputation surgery at Louisiana State University's (LSU) equine hospital, I didn't run to the keyboard and beg for photos. A few weeks later I did, though.

Meet Molly. She's a gray speckled pony who was abandoned by her owners when Katrina hit southern Louisiana. She spent weeks on her own before finally being rescued and taken to a farm where abandoned animals were stockpiled. While there, she was attacked by a pit bull terrier, and almost died. Her gnawed right front leg became infected and her vet went to LSU for help. But LSU was overwhelmed, and this pony was a welfare case. You know how that goes.

But after surgeon Rustin Moore met Molly, he changed his mind. He saw how the pony was careful to lie down on different sides so she didn't seem to get sores, and how she allowed people to handle her. She protected her injured leg. She constantly shifted her weight, and didn't overload her good leg. She was a smart pony with a serious survival ethic.

Moore agreed to remove her leg below the knee and a temporary artificial limb was built. Molly walked out of the clinic and her story really begins there.

"This was the right horse and the right owner," Moore insists. "Molly happened to be a one-in-a-million patient. She's tough as nails, but sweet, and she was willing to cope with pain. She made it obvious she understood (that) she was in trouble." The other important factor, according to Moore, is having a truly committed and compliant owner who is dedicated to providing the daily care required over the lifetime of the horse.

Molly's story turns into a parable for life in post-Katrina Louisiana. The little pony gained weight, her mane felt a comb. A human prosthesis designer built her a leg.

"The prosthetic has given Molly a whole new life," Allison Barca DVM, Molly's regular vet, reports. "And she asks for it! She will put her little limb out, and come to you and let you know that she wants you to put it on. Sometimes she wants you to take it off too." And sometimes, Molly gets away from Barca. "It can be pretty bad when you can't catch a three-legged horse," she laughs.

Most important of all, Molly has a job now. Kay, the rescue farm owner, started taking Molly to shelters, hospitals, nursing homes, rehabilitation centers. Anywhere she thought that people needed hope. Wherever Molly went, she showed people her pluck. She inspired people. And she had a good time doing it.

"It's obvious to me that Molly had a bigger role to play in life," Moore said, "She survived the hurricane, she survived a horrible injury, and now she is giving hope to others."

"She's not back to normal," Barca concluded. "She's going to be better. To me, she could be a symbol for New Orleans itself."

This week, Molly the Pony, a children's book about the pony who has already inspired thousands of people around New Orleans, has been published.

It's not a book about amputation or prosthetics, it's a book about people and ponies. But the photos you see here are from the book.

Maybe Molly won't make the vet textbooks, but she might reach more people from the pages of this book for children. If you know a child, a library, a hospital, or maybe a therapeutic riding program that can use a lift, here's a book that can do that. And you can explain how the leg and hoof work!

HOW TO ORDER: This book is an oversized, square 'laminated' (so it wipes clean) hard cover book. Hoofcare Publishing is proud to offer it for sale to you at the price of $15.95 each plus $6 post. A portion of the sales price will go toward Molly's fund. To order, send check or money to Hoofcare Books, 19 Harbor Loop, Gloucester MA 01930. Telephone orders to ( USA ) 978 281 3222. Fax orders to ( USA ) 978 283 8775. Email orders to books@hoofcare.com. Visa or Mastercard accepted; please supply account number and expiration date. When ordering, please give phone and/or email details.

You will LOVE this book--and Molly!

This is Molly's most recent prosthesis. The bottom photo shows the ground surface that she stands on, which has a smiley face embossed in it. Wherever Molly goes, she leaves a smiley hoof print behind!

CRYSTAL CORNER

Hello, everyone! It is a cold day in Wyoming and sometimes I think the wind will never be still! Our trees still don't have leaves and the flowers are just beginning to come up. Better late than never, I guess!

I have often been asked about diamonds and their uses in healing. I have never been very fond of diamonds, preferring the beautiful colors of the sapphire or emerald, but diamonds can teach us many things if we will observe and listen to them. A diamond in the rough is still very close to coal and the coal is an element that humanity has looked upon as a more common substance and yet, if it were not for coal, there would be no diamonds. So, consider that a diamond is coal that remembers who it is. It is allegorical of humanity, if you would. Coal doesn't judge itself for being coal but as it remembers who it really is, the heat, the pressure, you could even say the fear that it applies upon itself, brings out the refined qualities. Humanity has certainly always had a great belief that if there is not pain, suffering and difficulty, there cannot be a higher level consciousness. So, what humanity does to itself in the process of remembering is very much what coal does to itself to become a diamond. In this transformational time, everyone gets to be a diamond but so many are now more terrified of remembering who they truly are than they are of staying in separation. The diamond, of the gemstones, is probably one of the higher, more refined energies like gold is of the metals and roses are of the flowers. It is very representative of higher frequency, higher level consciousness. Not better than but certainly something to aspire to.

At the other end of the spectrum are the Jaspers. But, wait a minute! Everything is changing and nothing is as it seems. The Jasper, because it is a rather common stone, has been dismissed to a certain extent and yet, it was valued highly in spiritual places before everything got so terribly separate. All the colors of Jasper are very high frequency and high energy stones that have been subdued and they are beginning to re-emerge into the essence and energy that was theirs. It was considered a very rare jewel unlike how we think of it now. I will focus on the yellow Jasper in this column. The yellow Jasper is one stone that would be very assistive in helping humanity be in love with the fact that they are human. It is a 'within' stone. It would be very soothing for raw emotions, for someone who is torn in their emotions, whose judgments have cut them deeply, who feel as though they're so wounded that they're not sure they can heal. This energy would be like laying a poultice of soothing herbs on such a wound but it's an energy calling the entity to love who and what they are and not to judge oneself.

The Malachite/Chrysocolla combination, sometimes called Malacolla, contains the very powerful pain relief of the Malachite but also a great deal of soothing and healing energy for what might be called the wounded soul. This would address dis-easement on all levels. It would assist in repairing a much frayed nervous system and help bring an alignment that would heal the wounds of separation. So, it is a mending, blending, unifying, healing stone, not nearly as sweet and gentle as the yellow Jasper but certainly a stone that would bring mighty healing. This carries much Goddess energy but one might swear the Goddess was on the warpath when she made this! It is an aggressive healer.

BOOK REVIEWS by Delores DeVore

This month, I would like to tell you about several books that I have read recently.

The first is a book titled "Matrix Energetics" by Richard Bartlett. Their website is www.matrixenergetics.com

The Quantum Field at Your Fingertips!

- Learn this system of healing and transformation
- Make instant physical, observable changes
- Requires no special training
- Teachable & transferable, this phenomenon is easily learned
- Supercharge any technique or system of healing
- Take your skills to a place you have never seen before

Learn a complete system of healing and transformation based on the laws of subtle energy physics, consciousness and focused intent. Create quick observable changes with no waiting and no running energy.

The seminar teaches you how to join the science of subtle energy and quantum physics to produce physically and verifiable effects.

Experience the science and art of virtual transformation

This is the first new technique in many years for healing that I feel makes real changes in the person. The workshops are affordable and from my understanding - quite a trip!!

I have experienced this modality of healing and can testify that the changes are swift! An interesting side effect is that the energy gets you laughing. Check out the website for videos too
<http://www.matrixenergetics.com/Videos.aspx>

The next two books are Re-Reads for me. Volume 1 and 2 of the "I AM Discourses" - by Godfrey Ray King and St. Germain Press. Volume 1 - Unveiled Mysteries - introduces you to the Realm of the Ascended Masters and St. Germain in particular. He takes his student on trips via his "finer body" and visits civilizations of 12,000-70,000 years ago. His student describes the clothes, the culture, the buildings, and more of the civilizations. He also describes the Work of the Masters, and the abilities that they have - peaks your interest that is for sure!!

Volume 2 - Magic Presence - continues the story - describing in detail many of the abilities that the Masters have, and in particular the Atomic Accelerator - or the Chair that is in the mountains of WY. The story tells of 5 people who went into the mountain and their experience of the Chair. If you recall - BioGenesis now has a chair of the same function - in Bolder, CO. Today, their program is called the Acceleration Program where you are prepared and sit in the chair. The chair raises and expands your consciousness and the final time (you can do it more than once - according to the book) is to lift you and your body into your Light Body for total ascension. (How about that - in your lifetime?). The books have given me more understanding and detail of the chair and the desire to have this experience - how about you??

We celebrate Cambodian New Year this month by reconnecting with our Friends and Supporters around the globe.

<http://www.gradygrossmanschool.org/>

A NEW YEAR, INDEED!

Our program is experiencing expansive growth on both sides of the ocean. After our family returned from Cambodia in February, exhausted from a month of sustainability work at the school, we considered giving up. And then suddenly, incredible things began to happen.....

Our ABUNDANT FOREST LIFE SKILLS TRAINING CENTER is LAUNCHED!

During the month of January Sanu Kaji Shrestha, from Foundation for Sustainable Technologies

Nepal, successfully trained the villagers in the production of Biomass Briquettes, an alternative cooking fuel made out of local waste materials. We learned the incredible challenges to building community in Cambodia, where fear and oppression remain a destructive force and where well-intended, donor-driven programs undermine community solidarity. Village leader, Bun Vanna, heads the production facility, sleeps at the school to protect it, and fears for his life if he is not able to pay the workers. We hired and trained a Phnom Penh staff to help the villagers develop the market for their briquettes under the brand name SMART CHOICE FUEL and then something MIRACULOUS happened..... the price of cooking gas in Cambodia rose 300%!!!!

Suddenly, our briquettes are very popular and we are getting calls daily from villages that seek training!

A quote from our Country Director, "Yes, we picked up 45 bags of briquettes = 2,250kg from Chrauk Tiek at this time and sold them totaling 1899kg in Takeo Province then we had 351kg left when we got back to Phnom Penh. At this point, we have now have 10 bags briquettes about 350kg leftover in PP office. Oh! yes, it feels so proud to sell so many briquettes so well in Takeo."

SCHOOL FUEL

The briquette program has the potential to sustain many schools. Villagers can donate waste material and then buy back cooking fuel, creating income for the school, creating jobs in the community, and reducing environmental destruction at the same time. But it's not as simple as it sounds. Next we will tackle the challenges of transportation and distribution, developing the market, organizing a training program and outreach to other schools and organizations.

SUSTAINABLE SCHOOLS for CAMBODIA

That's our new goal. To achieve it we have a new and highly experienced, 25-member Board of Advisors who will be spending the rest of 2008 growing our organization from one that supports one school, to one that supports many. Our mission will be to build a replicable model that helps local communities start income-generating businesses to support their own school in a sustainable way.

Library and Music Program
Our new facility is 75% complete. The new music teaching team consists of three teachers: music, dance, and voice performance at $80 per month for teaching 6 days a week. The importance of the music program is profound; it is the thread that rebuilds the fabric of community. We also hired a full-time librarian for $50/month, so the students have more access to the library during recess and free time.

A Medical Facility

This has been both a need and a dream for a long time. And now, The College of Nursing at Belmont University in Nashville is helping us develop a sustainable medical program, via professor Susan Talpin, who worked for 2 years training nurses at a Phnom Penh hospital. A student nurse team led by Susan will be visiting the school at the end of May to conduct a 2-day medical clinic, a hygiene workshop, train a health teacher, assess nutrition/malnutrition of the students, and gather information for long-range sustainability planning.
