

November Newsletter

Our pictures this month are: An early October snow on our deck- very unexpected, Aspen trees taken last fall and at the end - "Queen of the House, Brenwyn."

By the time you receive this I will be in newborn, GA, getting ready for our intensive. I will be in Weaverville, N. C. November 13-15 for groups and private readings. Call Aurora Fox 656 658-3362 to sign up for a group or get a reading with St. Germain.

Time does strange things any more. I can remember when I was driving school bus in the late '70's" and I began to notice that time would speed up or slow down. It was not something that happened everyday, but it was strange enough to be aware that it was happening. Sometimes I would think that my watch had stopped, but when I checked with other drivers, they had the same time that I did. Other times it would jump forward and my thirty minuet lay over would be gone in five minutes. I asked the drivers if they noticed time doing funny things and several of them had had a feeling that something weird was going on because they felt that was different some way. Now, of course, after thirty years, we fly through the year and its New Year's again. If it was just me I could fall back on the old "Your just getting older" routine, but my twenty year old granddaughter comments on how fast things are moving.

Things feel so different energetically. When you stop attempting to analyze and just feel into life the essence is changing. This isn't bad or good—that is another analysis—it is just new. This energy could be strange, however, there is something hauntingly familiar about it. It is homecoming, but not in a physical sense. The reconnection is within. We are adapting to the fact that everything that we thought would happen "out there" is actually happening "in here".

ASTROLOGY

FULL MOON

November almost literally, begins with a Full Moon in Taurus on the 2. The contrasts of Taurus and Scorpio are light and shadow. As the light increases the shadows intensify. As humanity and the Earth are ascending into higher frequency vibration, all that does not resonate with that harmonic begins to destabilize, deconstruct and dissolve. Pluto in Capricorn, Saturn opposite Uranus and the triple conjunction of Jupiter, Chiron and Neptune are marking major social and economic upheaval. The greatest changes that we are experiencing lie far beyond our solar system and deep within ourselves. These are not our customary points of reference.

Mayan cosmology maps the evolution of consciousness in terms of over 16 billion years, a time span close to what modern physicists consider to be the Big Bang, the origin and age of our Universe. As the Mayan calendar measures the steps of creation the evolution process tends to speed up exponentially. There is much discussion in the scientific and metaphysical worlds about exactly when the Mayan calendar will end. Will it be October of 2011 or December of 2012? St. Germain says that the EGO loves statistics, but the truth is that we are already experiencing the shifts and evolutionary process attributed to the end of the Mayan calendar. You really cannot squeeze something of that magnitude into one day, of one month, of one year. November 8, for those of you who follow the movement of the Mayan calendar, marks the beginning of the 6th Night, which is a period of applying what was learned during the 6th Day (November 12, 2008 to November 8, 2009). We will experience further breakdown and transformation of unethical structures that are still attempting to conduct "business as usual" from the last cycle. The banks and the insurance companies are pointed out to be major supporters of the national economy, however it is becoming more obvious that they are the most destructive force to the general public because they are the tip of the pyramid and the people are supporting them in huge bonuses and ever increasing interest and cost of medicine raises. That's just how it is, is far too great a burden to continue to be endured. Insurance companies who can continue to raise premiums so that their higher ups do not have to take a cut in pay, while the rest of the people suffer and are forced to pay these outrageous and back breaking costs in the name of equality will become progressively more apparent in the next few months. The bid of the old order to keep the economy status quo, which means that those who have will continue to live off of those who were doing well until about three years ago.

Mars at 8 Leo and Jupiter at 18 Aquarius both square this Full Moon, urging us to make powerful changes with compassion and courage. Learning how to solve problems without a fight is truly an Aquarian trait. Mars will station to go retrograde on December 20 and will remain in within ten degrees of opposition of Jupiter until January 7, 2010. This brings the opposites of Faith and fanaticism, of heroism and hubris even more into the spotlight of the global scene. This grand square of Sun, Moon, Mars and Jupiter at the Full Moon calls for further reformation of outmoded structures. The Sun in Scorpio reveals where we must face the uncomfortable truth; the Moon in Taurus highlights the requirement for practicality. At this time, the call is more and more to "think globally and act locally". To put it another way we must change the world by first changing ourselves. Neptune stations to go direct on November 4 and the fog of illusions clears so that the highest good for all concerned can become the focus rather than the good of the few to the downfall of the many. All of this sounds like an old familiar story, but the underlying foundations are shifting so that this time the outcome can be very different. We must change or be changed.

The Sabian symbols for this Full Moon emphasize the necessity to care of the whole and put the focus on what is of the best good for all. For the Sun at 11 degrees of Scorpio: "A drowning man is being rescued; the deep concern of the collective for the safety of the individual". For the Moon at 11 degrees Taurus: "A woman watering flowers in her garden; the creative partnership of humanity and nature brings service and beauty. Nature richly responds to loving care or the lack of it." We are reminded, "Don't tell God how big your storm is, tell the storm how big your God is".

NEW MOON

This New Moon in Scorpio reminds us that we have moved so far into transformation that we cannot go back. We are changing so rapidly and radically that we couldn't find our way by if we tried. Years ago St. Germain said, "As you are dancing with multi-dimensional frequencies you must know where your inner connection lies. Otherwise, you might venture so far in your curiosity that you could not get back home." Rather than bread crumbs we can scatter star dust, but mark the way home, we must. We are realizing that our true self is so extremely different from what we believed it to be that we have no basis of comprehension. God is not logical, therefore, all of the well reasoned limits that we have clung to have no basis except in theoretical postulations.

The ongoing Jupiter, Chiron, Neptune conjunction squares this New Moon, highlighting the truth that, like it or not we are all in this together. This includes those who believed that they had everything worked out so that nothing could touch them. The changes are affecting the physical world, but most of these changes stem from non-physical essence. Scorpio is adding its light to the already intense scrutiny of Pluto in Capricorn. The outcome is that there really is no hiding place to be found, anywhere. The hidden and suppressed is rising up to be revealed and transformed. Aquarius is seeking to manifest its ideals of global community and progress through alliances and technology that link the continents and raise the consciousness of everyone. The decisions of the old order that certain groups, cultures and races were unworthy of notice and/or inclusion is dying with the limits of the past. A square indicates a turning point; a waning square signals a "crisis in consciousness". We are being called to reclaim both individualism and collective power. The two are not and never were separate. The establishment has been rooted in separation and greed; it must now be transformed into systems that are based on interdependence and integrity. As St. Germain said in last month's newsletter, "Equality means that you cannot be better or worse than any other."

Pluto, the ruler of Scorpio, forms an exact square to Saturn the day before this New Moon. This is just another version of the theme that Jupiter, Chiron and Neptune are sending. We must unite and create concepts that take us way out of the box. Saturn in Libra calls for fairness and cooperation. Capricorn requires accountability and sustainability. Our governments, economies and institutions are all being challenged to evolve.

Saturn and Pluto will make two more squares on January 31, 2010 and August 21, 2010. This mandate for change is amplified by Uranus transit through Aries 2010-2019. People with planetary aspects in the early degrees of Aries, Cancer, Libra and Capricorn will find themselves especially caught up in the necessity to step into their own power and become fully functioning messengers, mentors and bridges for the Aquarian Age.

The Sabian symbol; for 25 degrees Scorpio encourages us to look beneath the surface of present affairs: "An x-ray photograph; the capacity to acquire a knowledge of the structural factors in all existence." The truth only hurts if you have judgments against what is discovered. We must get our heads out of the sand, stop focusing on the flaws of others and examine the treasures that are buried within us. How is your backbone? "You only really discover the strength of your spine when your back is up against the wall." (James Geary)

CRYSTAL CORNER

Well, here we are heading into another month! I know time has speeded up but who knew how much?? It has been quite a year.

This month I would like to talk about all things Ruby. There is the pure gem itself and some combinations that are pure magik.

The red Ruby is a stronger vibration of Garnet and helps to raise the kundalini energy. This is definitely a heart stone. It stands halfway between the red of the root chakra and the purple of the crown. That makes this a marvelous access stone to the royalty of self. It is about defining our divine nature and feeling more comfortable with our own divinity.

The Ruby stem is polished on one end of the crystal and is very beautiful. It has a certain healing ability. It does not necessarily heal a virus but it greatly assists as a computer directed force that would assist the antibodies within the physical vehicle to properly recognize and identify what they are dealing with. There are times when physicians mislabel or misdiagnose what is going on. Therefore, it creates stress in the body. This would be to the body what the Poison Center would be for one who is poisoned. "What is the antidote of this poison?" This does that for the body. It assists the body to say, "Here is a foreign matter, here is a poison, here is a toxin, here is a disease maker." This helps the body to find an appropriate way to deal with it. This stone is also a blood purifier.

The Ruby/Kyanite stem is very powerful, yet very sweet. There are many who say ‘I speak the truth’ but for those who would be willing to wear this or carry it on their person, it would be almost like they couldn’t speak anything but the truth. This would focus more on truth rather than the lie. It focuses on the alignment of the will with truth rather than the lie, the synchronicity of the chakras so that every level would be attuned to truth. The lie probably wouldn’t even occur. The alignment of truth is unconditional love.

Ruby Spinel, when used on certain people, will connect them with where they have come from. This is one of the ‘feet on the ground, head in the stars’ stones. It awakens memories of universal communion.

TAROT TALK

Our tarot card for November is the Woman of Worlds. Even though this is an earthy card it brings in the essence of all of the elements. It is boldly physical, it contains the magma of the core of the earth, it holds the power of our feelings in its oceans and brings the breath of life to all created here.

The Woman of Worlds is the preserver. She protects what has been brought to fruition, while she is preparing to bring forth the next crop of abundance. The question that she asks is, “What do you desire beyond the basics of life?” You were given food for your bowl, a roof over your head and a bed to sleep in when you were born. Now you get to acknowledge the things that you desire for the heart. What is the depth of your longing? The Preserver says you may have what you desire as soon as you are willing to put it into words, speak it out loud, own your desire from your heart and soul.

The Woman of Worlds is connected to the Empress who is Mother of the World. She reminds us to be realistic and practical in your expectations. Maintain the health and integrity of your creations through slow growth and lots of tender nurturing. Each creation is connected to an awakening strand of DNA. Your creations are a labor of love, first for self and then to be shared with others. Bring quality to your desires and designs. The arts are what has perpetuated civilization. Enjoy the aesthetics of life. Revel in beauty. The end of autumn often brings some of the most beautiful scenery and the richness of the earth as she is preparing to rest.

As winter is coming nurture your body and get ready for more quiet time. Your greatest wealth is within. Be willing to find your personal riches and preserve them through awareness of their value—your love is your greatest treasure. Be down to earth, homey. Take care of your environment, both within and without. Be productive in projects that can be done inside and then, perhaps taken outside in the spring.

When the Woman of Worlds shows up in you reading she is telling you to open to more than you have allowed in your life. Abundance is on its way or, perhaps it is waiting at your door for you to wake up and take notice. The physical features of this woman are dark skin, black or dark brown hair and eyes and strong facial features. The stature may be short, but no matter what the height she will be sturdy in her body shape and form. Broad hips are a characteristic of the earth woman. She may be bringing you a message of fertility, whether it is the birth of a child or the birth of some creative idea.

With the Woman of Worlds you are rich, prosperous, fertile and gestating something wonderful. This is a time to put energy seeds into the fertile soil of your mind and soul and watch them grow.

St. Germain on Gratitude

Beloved Masters, at this time of year you are made especially aware of all the many things for which you are thankful. This year many people feel that they are having to look very hard to find something, anything that brings the attitude of gratitude.

As you are moving into higher consciousness every day the power of your thoughts becomes progressively more potent in the design of your life. Where are you putting your focus? The teaching of thousands of years have builded up to cause a deeply entrenched belief that what is going on in the world is how your life will be. Now you must remember that what is going on in the world is the outcome of what you and billions of others said it would be. Take any occurrence in your life and consider how you have energized it. “Money is tight”, “tighten your belt”, “prepare for hard times” and amazingly money gets harder to come by, you feel trapped and things just go down hill. Take the same situation and look at it as a blessing. “This is a time to consider doing the things that I never had time for”, “I will continue to prosper no matter what the world says”, “I am ready for better times than ever” and even in the midst of crisis the feeling that you carry is things are getting better and life is improving. You may get windfalls and extra cash from places that you would have never even thought about.

Be grateful for the challenges. Let adversity be your mentor rather than the “wolf at the door”. Always look for the positive in every situation. Your psyche has been programmed through eons of the Mind Grid to always seek the worst possible outcome. Pay attention to your media. There is a potential for rain and it is portrayed as a potential flood. People catch the fear and begin to worry. The next thing you know there are floods. In another area there has not been rain in a few days and the fear of drought is planted. Now the land is dry and there is fire and the drought gets worse, until the media says “You are going to have rain to end your drought, but since it has been so dry, if you get too much rain there will be a flood.” Oh, the drama. Hold an intention for the divinely appropriate weather rather than attempting to figure out how the weather should be. Hold an intention for your prosperity to flow in a way that means there is always plenty. Keep you mind and heart on love and being loved and loving. The EGO wants to direct your attention to how things appear to be in this moment and tell you that that is exactly how things will always be. “Nothing can get better. Things can only get worse.” Focus on that kind of energy and you will achieve the outcome of sadness and woe. Focus on gratitude and all of the wonderful potentials that are just about to happen for you and life follows the way of goodness.

We have spoken many times about the levels of frequency where the thoughts are all on love, prosperity and well being. In these dimensions things function in such a way that you could say, “this is heaven”. The collective minds are pouring gratitude into everything. The foundational understanding is, “All is well and getting better”, “Everyday, in every way my life is getting better”. The outcome is that things are on a steady up spiral, because everyone is contributing the energy of grateful, trustful, joyful thoughts to the whole. Just imagine, for imagination is the feminine principle of creation, what your life would be like if you made a conscious effort to think of the best, most positive outcome to every situation. If you have no idea what the outcome might be you have a choice to see things working for you or against you. The world chooses to see failure. It looks for the flaw, the fault, the mistake, the dark side and it finds them all. Shine your light into that darkness. This isn’t about making something up. It is about making things go your way by seeing life flowing the good into your life.

Gratitude isn't, "I'll be thankful if things go the way I want them to". Gratitude is the overflowing feeling of love because things keep moving and changing. All change is something to be thankful for. Be thankful for the good that comes rather than criticizing the way it comes or that it isn't what you expected. When you get an unexpected gift it is a lift. Let everything that comes to you be an unexpected gift and life will be Christ-mas every single day.

You are moving into the season of the year where giving gifts is emphasized. You may find that you feel bad if you cannot give as much as you have in the past. Where is your giving taking you? Do you give because you want to or do you give to compete? If you are honest, wouldn't you be grateful if you didn't have to do so much? How about a simple, loving Christmas that honors people instead of things? Instead of running until the very last minute trying to find just the right gift, take the time to look into the face of those that you love and tell them you care. Say out loud I LOVE YOU FOR WHO YOU ARE!! Give the gift that keeps on giving for the rest of their life and yours—give them you. Take a deep breath and relax and be grateful for them. Be grateful for you being with them. How long has it been since you really took the time to find out what is going on with those you love, rather than assuming that all they want is stuff, money, anything but you?

Gratitude is heart warming. It is fulfilling. It is rich in and of itself. You cannot pretend to be grateful, but when you discover it in the core of your being it is priceless. Gratitude, like love, is uncontrollable. It overflows and floods you with delight. It makes a dark day bright. It takes a moody person and gives them the joy ride of their life. It is impossible to be glum in gratitude. There just isn't any space for blah in an unlimited wellspring of gratefulness.

We are eternally grateful for the opportunity to serve you. We are thankful for your creation and for what you create. We live in the joy of Allness because We choose to. We empower the essence of the higher levels of consciousness and invite you to join us in the celebration of GRATITUDE!!

Blessing on your season of thanksgiving! May it extend throughout the whole year. Until we meet again, in what ever manner that may be, in the greatest of love I bid you Adieu! I remain always, your humble servant.
